

Off on a Vacation...

the man of business or leisure is who wants to enjoy life and gain health and strength thereby. Take a suit cut and made from our fine clay serge, fancy flannels or light chevots, and it will give you both pleasure and comfort while you are away. The stamp of style and taste is laid on every suit made by us.

During this month we will make up our 25.00 chevot suit for 20.00. 30.00 unfinished worsted suits for 25.00. Trousers all marked down.

JOHN D. ROSIE,

Merchant Tailor,

REPAIRING AND PRESSING

NEATLY DONE.

P. O. Building, Arlington.

Royal Blue Steel Ware

THIS ware is lined with white enamel and is of the very best quality. A new invoice just received, consisting of Tea and Coffee Pots, Double Boilers, Tea Kettles, Preserving Kettles, Stew Pans, Sauce Pans, Dippers, Cups, Bowls, Wash Basins, Dish Pans, Pails, Spoons, etc.

G. W. Spaulding, LEXINGTON:

Photographs

That are not only

Litchfield Studio
Studio Building,
Arlington, Mass.

Portraits

but are also

Pictures.

Marshall & Grant.

Studio will be closed from Aug. 3 to Sept. 2.

THE WRONG WAY

to buy drugs, is the cheap way. If medicine is to cure the sick, it must be the best and purest, and skill and experience are also necessary in the art of compounding physicians' prescriptions. We are registered pharmacists and we employ registered clerks in our prescription department. There's a very pointed moral to this true tale. We simply give you our name and let you draw your own conclusions.

PERHAM'S Prescription Pharmacy

Post Office Building, Arlington.

FRED A. SMITH, Watchmaker & Jeweler

Repairing French, Hall and American Clocks and all Grades of Watches.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED. CLOCKS CALLED FOR AND RETURNED.

489 MASSACHUSETTS AVE., - ARLINGTON.

Johnson's Arlington Express.

J. H. EDWARDS, Prop.

Main Office, Monument View House.

Opp. Soldiers' Monument.

Order Box Faneuil Hall Market.

Baggage checked to all depots and steamboat wharves or transferred to destination.

If you have any Expressing, Piano or Furniture Moving to do please give us a call.

We have the largest business and can give better results than any other express in Arlington. Telephone, 13-g Arlington

Two Trips Daily. Teams Due at 1.30 and 6.30 P. M.

The Triumph of the Baker's Art

in bread making is achieved in the white, light and delicious loaves, baked here every day. We use nothing but the best flour, pure and high grade, and our bread is nourishing, wholesome and tempting to the most fastidious. All of our Bakedstuffs are unsurpassed for high-grade excellency. Our Ice Cream and Catering is the best.

N. J. HARDY,

657 Massachusetts Avenue, ARLINGTON.

RELICS TO BE ENTOMBED.

Corner Stone of New Baptist Church
Arlington Laid To-day—Appropriate Exercises Will Solemnize the Event.

The corner stone of the new Arlington Baptist church will be laid this afternoon with appropriate exercises. The services will be short but will be interesting and impressive, and will begin at 4 o'clock. The long look-out for event will doubtless be witnessed by a large number of people, and all will be well repaid for attending. The invocation will be offered by Rev. A. W. Lorimer, pastor of the Arlington Heights Baptist church. There will be singing by the Franklin male quartet, the recital of the contents of the box to be placed in the corner stone by E. Nelson Blake, chairman of the building committee. A short address will be given by Rev. Charles H. Watson, pastor of the church, after which the box will be carefully sealed by A. H. Knowles and placed in the receptacle. The stone will then be laid by Mr. Blake at the southeast corner of the

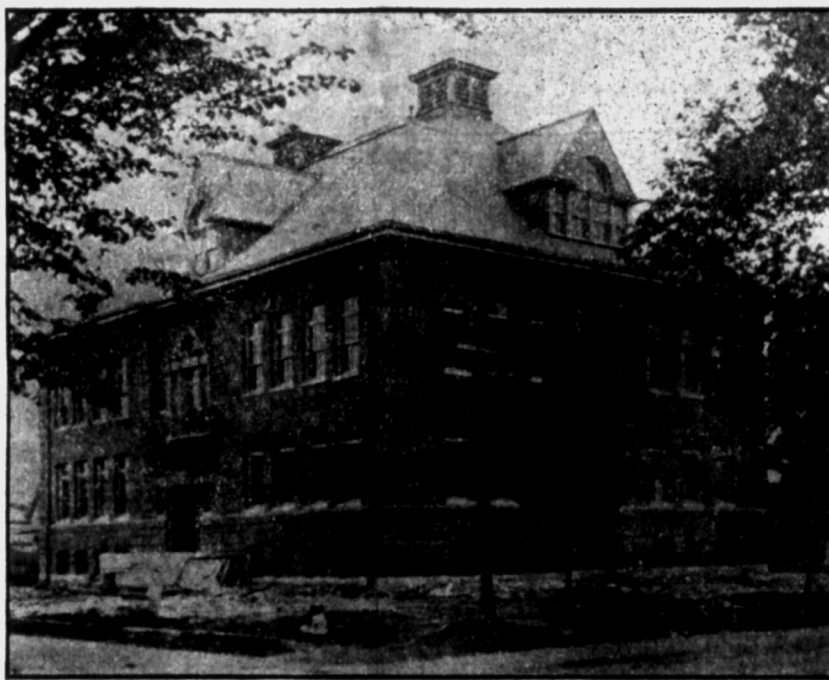

Belmont and Waverley

Subscriptions may be left at La Bonte's drug store at Belmont, or at Connors's news store, or with F. A. Chandler, Waverley. Subscription price, 75 cents per year, for a limited period only. The Enterprise is for sale in Waverley by H. D. Rogers, Waverley Cafe; John Connors's news store at Waverley, and at Belmont by Frank La Bonte.

RAILWAY HEARING.

Will the Boston Elevated Street Railway company lay tracks in Belmont from the Boston & Maine crossing in Waverley to the Waltham town line and there connect with the Concord & Boston street railway, north of the Concord & Boston company be given permission to extend its tracks into the town of Belmont for some 1500 feet and thus make the connection between the two lines of trolley?

Such is the question which is on the minds of Belmont people. Nearly everyone is in favor of the proposed extension, but in case the Elevated will not do so for six months, or six years, the controversy is—what shall be done now? In the town hall, Monday evening, a hearing was given the Concord & Boston Co. on a petition for a location of tracks over Trapelo road from the Waltham line to the Belmont line, and Waverley station, in an endeavor to ascertain what the people want. After the hearing, the selectmen decided to take action on the petition at the next meeting of the board, Oct. 7, and nothing will be done until that time. When the three members of the board of selectmen stepped upon the platform at eight minutes past eight o'clock, there were not over 50 persons in the hall, but what there was lacking in numbers was easily made up by the gift of speech in those present. For over an hour and a half the discussion lasted, and those who had no chance to speak and those who had not talked enough during the meeting made up for it afterwards. Chairman of the Board of Selectmen Charles H. Slade presided at the hearing, and on either side of him sat Selectmen Thomas W. Davis and Richard Hittinger. Chairman Slade read the call and then asked for speeches in favor of granting the desired franchise. Representative Cummings of the Concord & Boston company was first to speak. He said the desired location of tracks was between 1700 and 1900 feet in length. He declared that as the road now extended to the Belmont line, and lacked just this distance to connect with the Boston Elevated tracks at the Boston & Maine railroad crossing, the granting of the location would be of benefit to the town and to the abutters along the line of the proposed route. He had asked Gen. Bancroft, president of the Boston Elevated Co., if his company would build the extension of tracks over the railroad to connect with the Concord & Boston road at the Waltham line, but was given an indefinite reply. He did not believe the Boston Elevated would build unless the crossing was abolished and that no steps would be taken to bury this along. Even then he had his doubts. Mr. Cummings said if a location of tracks would be given by the selectmen he would agree to have the track laid and the line in operation within two weeks after the franchise was signed.

THE NEW DANIEL BUTLER SCHOOL AT WAVERLEY.

At this point Selectman Davis read a petition from 24 residents along the proposed route asking that the location be granted. George C. Flett, of Trapelo road, said he had not signed the petition, for he was not ready to admit the road. He preferred to see the Boston Elevated secure the franchise, but if it would not ask for it, then he was willing to see this company secure it. He had understood the Boston Elevated would build. If not, then he asked if a five year lease could not be given this company. Henry S. Foote favored the plan of the Concord & Boston. It would be a matter of great convenience and it was a necessity to connect the lines. People now coming through the town inquire for the connecting road, and are obliged to take an unnecessary walk. The proposed plan would be of great benefit to other towns and also to Belmont. He

(Continued on Page Four.)

BUY NOTHING BUT THE BEST. IF YOU WANT ICE THAT IS PURE HANG OUT THE WHITE CARD.

BELMONT ICE CO.

W. G. HADLEY, J. G. HADLEY, Proprietors.

Belmont Centre.

Waverley Cafe

Choice Confectionery, Daggett's Chocolates; Ice Cream and Cake; Cold Soda, all flavors; Pureoxia Tonics, Moxie. Full line of Cigars and Tobacco. Meals and Lunches to order at all hours; accommodations for 100 in the pavilion. Ferguson's Bread and Pastry.

B. E. R. CO. WAITING ROOM.

Trapelo Road, Waverley.

WATER QUESTION.

Lexington Voters Summoned to Special Town Meeting.

The Committee on Water Supply Asks for Appropriation to Meet Expenses—$10,000 Required for Laying Pipes to Secure Additional Water.

A special town meeting has been called for Thursday evening, at the town hall, Lexington, at 7.30 o'clock. The entire meeting will be devoted to the discussion of the various phases of the water question as brought before the voters by the committee on water supply.

The articles in the warrant are: To hear the report of the committee on water supply and act thereon. To see if the town will make an appropriation to meet the expenses of the water department incurred in obtaining an additional supply of water. To see if the town will make an appropriation for the purpose of constructing additional wells and a light reservoir, and connecting the same for improving our water supply, and for supplying water as recommended by the committee. To see if the town will vote to issue bonds in the sum of $10,000 or any sum as authorized by statute for the purpose of laying pipes, purchasing materials and doing other work necessary for supplying water, or act in any manner relating thereto. To see if the town will authorize the committee to purchase from M. H. Roberts and others land in the southerly part of the town for purpose of obtaining an additional supply of water and conducting the same to our own present system or to some other system of water supply, or act in any manner relating thereto. To see if the town will authorize the committee to petition the legislature for authority to purchase or obtain by gift land belonging to M. H. Roberts and others and situate in southerly part of the town and the springs and streams thereon or tributaries thereto for the purpose of obtaining a supply of water and for laying pipe to conduct the same to our standpipe at East Lexington or otherwise to our present system or act in any manner relating thereto.

The water committee met Thursday evening and decided to ask the selectmen for the special meeting and it was granted at once. It is reported that the well being dug near the Severns spring is not yielding the amount of water expected, and it is a disappointment to the committee. The water which has been taken from the Roberts meadow for analysis by the state board of health, appears to be considered satisfactory for domestic purposes, and while the analysis is not conclusive that the water is all right, it is believed it will stand a good chance of being approved should the town wish to use the water.

DANIEL BUTLER SCHOOL.

The new Daniel Butler school which has been building at the corner of White and Sycamore streets, Waverley, since last fall is to be opened Tuesday next, and will be an up-to-date building in every particular.

There are eight large schoolrooms, 22x32 feet, six of which are finished for use, and a large assembly hall, at present unfinished. The rooms are all well lighted on two sides, as is the basement, containing the toilet rooms, boiler room, bicycle room and sloyd room.

The building is finished in light wood with maple floors. The heating is done by an indirect register system by which the air is brought in from the outside, heated, used, then purified by a thorough system of ventilation. A complete system of signal bells, and a room calls has been installed; also a system of tube calls connecting with and operating from the room of the principal.

The sanitary system is very fine, there being a drinking fountain on each floor, while in the basement are large and well-ventilated toilet rooms equipped with modern bowls and automatic flush closets.

There are large book and storage closets for each room and clothes-hooks and accommodations for about 45 to each room. The plans and specifications were made by E. B. Homer, of Belmont. The construction was done by Lord Bros., of Boston, and the carpenter work by J. F. Marston, of Boston. The plumbing was done by F. P. Rogers, of Belmont, the boiler and engine installed by the Isaac Coffin Co., of Boston, and the ventilating system by the Boston Blower Co. The program clocks were furnished by Ridgett Bros., the chairs and desks by the Chandler Bros., of Portland, and the blackboards by J. A. Swazey & Co., and the manual training sloyd room of 18 benches equipped by Chandler & Farquhar.

The plans and building have been in charge of a competent and conscientious committee, to whom much credit is due for the successful and complete detail of every department of the work.

The building when opened next Tuesday will be in charge of Miss Anne Johnson, principal, assisted by the following corps of teachers: Miss Mary A. Freeman, Miss Carrie Dean, Miss Clara Burbank and Miss Blanche Minot.

BROWN—RICHARDSON.

At high noon Thursday in the Unitarian church at Belmont, Mr. Ammi Brown, Harvard '97, now of the law school, and Miss Mabel Wolcott Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Richardson, of Belmont, were united in marriage. The church was crowded, many guests coming from Boston, Cambridge, Brookline, Portland and the Newtons.

The bride looked very pretty in a gown of white mousseline de soie. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hillary Bygrave, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Charles S. Rich, brother-in-law of the groom.

Mr. Howard A. Reed, of Milford, Pa., Harvard '97, was the best man. The maid of honor, Miss Emily Richardson, was gown in pink mousseline de soie, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jane Morse, of Portland, Miss Isabel Brown, sister of the groom, of Portland, and Miss Elizabeth Bygrave, Miss Alice Brown and Miss Elinor Dodge, all of Belmont, wore white mousseline de soie over pink. The ushers were Mr. Edmund B. Edwards, of Milton, Dr. Percy Brown of Boston, Mr. Frank Woodbridge, of New York, Mr. Harry H. Pierce, of New York, Mr. G. V. Michael, and Mr. Russell Suter, both of Cambridge.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, on Waverley street, Belmont, which was attended by the bride and party and the relatives of the newly married couple. The bride was president of her class at Radcliffe and very prominent in club life at college.

BRAVERY REWARDED.

Thomas G. Whiting was presented a silver medal by the Massachusetts Humane society, for gallantry in saving life on June 1, 1901. He started for Waltham that morning, his laundry and got as far as Trapelo road when he saw a runaway horse attached to a milk wagon coming down over the hill. He gave chase for two miles and finally succeeded in stopping the horse. The team was owned by Melvin Childs, of Waltham, and at the time of the runaway contained two small children.

McKINLEY SHOT.

Struck down by two revolver shots from the hand of an assassin, President McKinley is hovering between life and death at Buffalo, N. Y. The latest reports of his condition are hopeful, but both wounds are of a serious nature, and hopes of his recovery are conditioned upon the absence of new complications. The shooting occurred in the Temple of Music building on the Buffalo exposition grounds, where the president was receiving visitors. A strange man approached him to shake hands, and as he held in his free hand, and which was held in his free hand, and which was said to have been concealed by a handkerchief. The president fell at the second shot. He was first cared for at the hospital on the grounds, and later removed to the home of President Milburn, of the exposition board, where he is now resting.

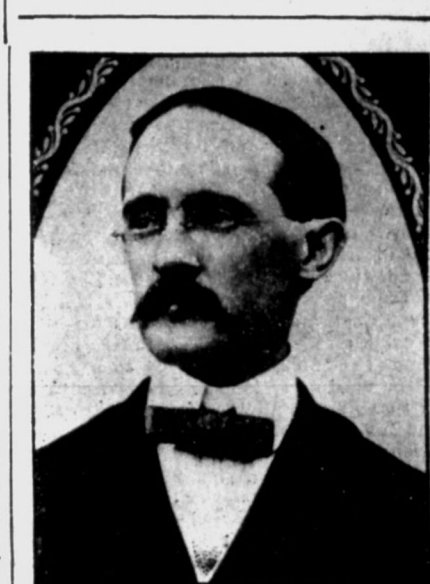

A detailed bulletin issued by the physicians stated that one bullet struck the president on the upper portion of the breast-bone, and the second penetrated the abdomen, but without injuring the abdominal organs. The first bullet was removed. His condition at the time of this bulletin, it was stated, justified hope of recovery. The purpose of an "auto" station are to furnish supplies and repairs, and generate electricity for the electrical type of automobiles. The place is soon to be equipped with a generator for charging the storage batteries. It will be a registered station of the Blue Book of the Auto club of America, and a great convenience to the ever increasing number of automobilists in Arlington, Belmont and Lexington.

A PROGRESSIVE FIRM.

Two Green Mountain Boys Who Have Inaugurated a Successful Business in Arlington—An Automobile Station a New Departure.

During the past week Wetherbee Bros. of Arlington, jewelers and cycle dealers, have opened to the public their new automobile station, which is one of the first to be opened in this vicinity, and an addition to the business enterprises of the town.

The purpose of an "auto" station are to furnish supplies and repairs, and generate electricity for the electrical type of automobiles. The place is soon to be equipped with a generator for charging the storage batteries. It will be a registered station of the Blue Book of the Auto club of America, and a great convenience to the ever increasing number of automobilists in Arlington, Belmont and Lexington.

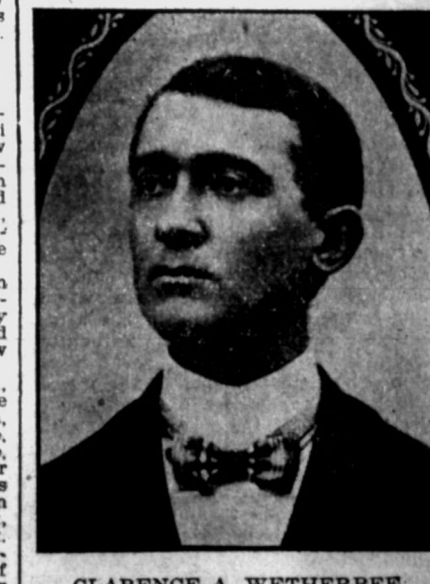

IVERS L. WETHERBEE.

tered station of the Blue Book of the Auto club of America, and a great convenience to the ever increasing number of automobilists in Arlington, Belmont and Lexington.

It is less than two years since the firm began business in Arlington, but the rapid growth of business since that time testifies to the business qualities of the two brothers. When asked recently what was the reason for this growth the answer was, "Steadily advertising and backing up what we advertise." The business has more than doubled this year over that of last year.

The store now has four distinct lines of business carried on within its walls, the automobile business, the bicycle business, the jewelry business and the general jobbing and repairing business such as repairing and grinding lawnmowers, knives, scissors, skates, etc. In this latter branch it may be stated that all the grinding is done by power, having recently installed a new gasoline engine for the various purposes of their business. The watch, clock and jewelry department has increased to such an extent as to require an assistant watch and clock maker.

Ivers L. Wetherbee and Clarence A. Wetherbee comprise the firm of Wetherbee Bros. The former, Ivers L., who is the senior partner, is a native of Vermont, having been born at South Reading in 1872. When he was quite young he came to Massachusetts, and for the last 16 years has resided in Arlington. He is a graduate of the Cutter school in the class of 1887. He attended the Coting high school one year, but in the fall of 1888 he entered the employ of E. B. Horne Co., of Boston, where he remained a year. A more lucrative position was then offered him by F. H. Haines, of Boston, where he was employed for four years, when he began work for A. Stowell & Co., of Boston, and while there he was associated with some of the best watchmakers of the country.

CLARENCE A. WETHERBEE.

Clarence A. Wetherbee was born in South Reading in 1876, coming to Massachusetts and to Arlington at the same time his brother did. He was an attendant at the Russell school, leaving in 1891 to go to Boston to learn the watch-making business. He was there four years and then entered the employ of S. F. Dean, a bicycle dealer, formerly of Arlington. Since 1896 he has been identified with the bicycle and electrical business and at present is taking a thorough course in electricity in the Scranton Correspondence school.

INTERESTING DUELS.

THE YANKEE AND THE ENGLISHMAN
WHO DIDN'T FIGHT.A Curate Who Was Made a Dean and Who Just Missed a Bishopric.
Dancing Under Compulsion—A Famous French Female Duelist.

The stories of American duels are of great interest and are among the most famous in the whole history of dueling, but they are too well known to be repeated. The majority have been desperate tragedies when good men and true have been led to kill each other often through misrepresentations that lost the world many a noble and helpful life. One, however, that was not so disastrous was between an American and a hot headed foreigner. What the quarrel was history states not. Perhaps it was so small as to be quite overlooked, but at all events it was arranged that the two take their places on kegs of powder, with a lighted fuse placed in the bung hole of each. The kegs, of course, were empty, but as the foreigner saw the fire slowly burning down to the supposed volcano below him his courage failed him and he fled.

Still more interesting is the story of the Yankee skipper and the Englishman. In the earlier days there was not much love lost between the two factions, consequently it was no very hard matter to pick a quarrel, especially when each thought the death of the other would be a service not only to his country, but to the world. In this particular case the skipper of a weather beaten Yankee whaler met an Englishman in a foreign port and had an altercation with him, perhaps over a matter of precedence.

A duel was arranged, and at the appointed time the Englishman appeared, bringing with him two swords, as though the Yankee had the choice of weapons. He inferred that the armory of the whaler contained no such luxuries. But the skipper would not accept the proffered weapons, whereupon the other brought out a handsome pair of dueling pistols. These, too, were refused, and the Englishman demanded in astonishment what his opponent did want to fight with, whereupon the Yankee replied he had brought his weapons with him and produced a pair of well sharpened harpoons. The Englishman, of course, protested, but as the choice of weapons did not lie with him he was obliged to accept the harpoons. When the Yankee raised the murderous looking piece, the Englishman knew that arm, experienced in piercing the dodging whale, could not fail to miss him. The unwieldy harpoon began to shake in the awkward hand, and he flung it down, leaving the exultant Yankee master of the situation.

Another interesting duel fought without the use of ordinary weapons had for one of its principals the Duke of Richmond, then viceroy of Ireland. His title to fame rests on the fact of his being a great duelist and a six bottle man, able to drink all his staff and gentlemen guests under the table. On a visit to a friend in the west of Ireland the duke complained that he had no one to drink with him, and his host, wishing to remedy this deficiency, sent for a curate famous for his liquor drinking. After five bottles had been disposed of by each the curate complained that it was too slow work and proposed bumpers of brandy. These were immediately filled and as quickly emptied. Fresh bumpers were then filled for each, but as the representative of the church stretched out his hand to receive one he fell helpless to the floor. On the following day the duke made him a dean, remarking that if he had been victorious in the drinking duel his curacy would have been exchanged for a bishopric.

A little earlier than this the famous Dr. Young, going with some ladies to Vauxhall, then the rendezvous of all the beauty and fashion of London, played on the German flute to amuse them. Just behind them came a boatload of officers, and when the doctor ceased playing one of them insisted that he should continue or be thrown into the water. Wishing to avoid a dispute before his friends, he continued; but, arriving at his destination, he sought out his tormentor and demanded satisfaction with swords and without seconds early the following morning. When they met, however, and had taken their places, the doctor instantly drew out a huge horse pistol and, pointing it at the officer's head, compelled him to dance a minuet. The officer had no choice but to obey and for a quarter of an hour kept up the dance. The doctor then lowered his pistol, saying as they were quits they might now arrange another affair with seconds and the officer might have satisfaction.

But if England was an uncomfortable place to live in those days, France was still worse. Such a state of affairs existed that in 1041 was instituted the "Savior's truce," whereby duels were prohibited from Wednesday until Monday. But, like all other forbidden things, the duel rarely grew in favor than decreased. Montaigne says, "If three Frenchmen were put into the Libyan desert, they would not be a month there without fighting and quarreling." Cases are recorded of father and son facing each other in mortal combat, brother arrayed against brother and the dearest of friends killing each other for absolutely nothing except perhaps a misplaced word. Even the women of France have fought, though, indeed, it was no very unusual occurrence in any country for a wife to disguise herself in her husband's armor when he was unable to meet the foe himself.

One of the most famous of the women duelists of France was Maupin, one of the performers at the opera. Serane, the famous fencing master, fell in love with her and gave her many valuable lessons in the art. One evening at a ball Maupin was very rude to another lady and was requested to leave the room. She replied she would if those gentlemen who had espoused the lady's cause would accompany her. This they consented to do and after a hard combat she killed them all. Then she quietly returned to the ballroom.

But of these affairs no count can be made. More people have probably lost their lives over some foolish quibble than have been killed in a dozen wars for their country's good.

Significance of Ears.

A book on the ears as an index of character having been published by an English author, a learned reviewer, Dr. A. Keith, mentions his own elaborate study of the ears of more than 40,000 people, including 800 criminals and 2,000 insane persons, besides those of 300 ayes. He was forced to conclude that the ears gave no clue to personal traits.

DRESS OF THE DAY.

DUTING COSTUMES AND TRAVELING
GEAR OF THE SMART SET.New Gowns For Croquet and Tennis.
Traveling Outfit, including the Dashing Long Coat—Roman Sandals Revived For Children.

Illustrations speak louder than words, but both are desirable when fashion is the theme. Let us then at once thus present some interesting items of the mode. A figure of the first sketch is devoted to the tennis player—a costume made in mauve linen with the strappings outlined with black stitching. It bears a little bolero of somewhat new shape, which can be dispensed with at will, or appear above a blouse, which is of white muslin with an embroidered black spot upon it, belted round the waist with black lace.

The croquet player, who looks on victory bent, is in ecru linen trimmed with ecru lace and bands of ecru taffeta, the little sack coat is entirely made of lace, while the taffeta outlines the collar, the oversleeves and the lace vest.

CROQUET AND TENNIS COSTUMES.

Second as to sketches are traveling outfits, such as early autumn will bring into greater prominence. There is on the left a neat and simple marine blue mohair gown worn with a tan suede belt, turndown muslin collar and red and blue plaid cravat.

The other figure exploits one of the long cloaks which, in the very lightest weight fabrics, have been a most dashing and at the same time serviceable summer style. This cloak is heavier, of pastel gray cloth, piped with black taffeta and stitched and finished with large pierced bone buttons.

A traveling coat is in fact a very important possession, and extremely well will be one of black cloth lined with white glaze. Collars, cuffs and facing are of white cloth strapped with black glaze. In shape it is a man's loose racing coat, seeming to hang in folds without plaits, in sack style, from neck to hem, and yet innocent of a superfluous inch of fullness, an admirable garment.

Again we hear that the bolero has had its day, and its sun has certainly set with at least one swell Paris gown builder. In its place reigns a jaunty jacket, short at the back, with springing basque coming some three inches below the waist line behind, sloping down on either side in front into deep points, which are really continuations of the collar and revers. This new coat gives the long, straight fronted aspect of the figure which is the fashionable desideratum at the present moment.

The Roman sandal has been revived as a very smart fad for children. The offspring of the Four Hundred are exploiting it this season at exclusive resorts. Another summer should see such a sensible notion in full swing for all the little folk everywhere. The sandal is next thing to going barefoot and that is usually commended by the hygienists and is the basis of at least one celebrated "cure."

These forerunners of a probable style are of tan and white buckskin and are constructed with three straps, one passing between the big and second toe to the ankle, a cross strap and an ankle band. The rising generation may walk more gracefully and be freer by one-half (the sandal season being confined to summer) from corns and bunions than their elders of the present day.

To Poach Eggs in a Ball.

To poach eggs in a ball is a knack not acquired by all cooks. The way of it is this: The water is heated to boiling and then rapidly stirred until a small whirlpool is produced, in the hollow part of which maelstrom the egg is cleverly dropped. The motion of the water crystallizes the white instantly into a circular covering for the unbroken yolk.

ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

Driveways, Buttresses, Steps and Copings.
Asphalt Sidewalks, Stable and Cellar Floors.

SLATE METAL ROOFING ASPHALT GRAVEL

Asphalt and Coal Tar Paving and Roofing Material for the Trade.

Manufacturers WARREN BROS. COMPANY, Contractors

143 Federal St., Boston.

Tel. 4064 Main. Factory: E. Cambridge.

C. W. ILSLEY, Ice Dealer,

Pond Lane, Arlington.

PRICE OF ICE TO TAKE EFFECT MAY 1st UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.

15 lbs. of ice daily, per week	.40
20 " " " " " " " "	.50
25 " " " " " " " "	.60
25 " " " at one delivery	.10
50 " " " " " " " "	.15
100 " " " " " " " "	.25
200 " to 500 lbs. at one delivery.	20 per cwt.
500 " and upwards	15 " "

J. W. HARRINGTON,

SUCCESSOR TO GEO. D. TUFTS.

Business Established More Than 50 Years.

Practical House, Sign, and Decorative Painter.

All kinds of hard and soft woods finished in the latest and most improved manner. Kalsomining Painting in water colors. Graining, Glazing and Paper Hanging. Local agents for one of the largest wall paper houses in Boston. Drop me a card and I will call with samples. All sizes of glass on hand. Sign writing a specialty. Personal supervision given to all work and satisfaction guaranteed. I respectfully solicit a further share of your patronage.

Shop, 450 Mass. ave., opp. Medford st. Residence, 51 Lewis Ave. ARLINGTON.

A. BOWMAN,

Ladies' and Gents' TAILOR,

487 Mass. ave., Arlington.

ALTERING, CLEANING, DYEING, PRESSING.

H. B. JOHNSON,

Steam and Hot Water Heating,

Greenhouse Contractor, Steam Pump Repairer, etc.

PIPE AND FITTINGS FOR SALE BROADWAY and WINTER STS.,

AT BOSTON PRICES. ARLINGTON.

Boilers Re-tubed. Artesian Wells. Wind Mills. Roofing.

For all work contracted for the latest devices and most approved appliances are used and personal attention given to every job. Estimates furnished on contracts of any amount and satisfaction guaranteed.

MRS. DALE,

House and Kitchen Furnishings,

HAS A FULL LINE OF

Crockery, Glass, China and Tin Ware, Preserving Jars, Toilet and Fancy Articles, etc., etc., at 610 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington.

WM. H. WOOD & CO.,
Broadway and Third Street,
CAMBRIDGEPORT.
Headquarters For LUMBER
And Building Material.
Largest Stock in N. E. to Select From

Established 1826.

Arlington Insurance Agency

George Y. Wellington & Son, Agents.

Eight Mutual Companies, Ten Stock Companies. Office open daily and Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Savings Bank Building, Arlington Avenue.

OFFICE HOURS: 1.30 to 4.30 P. M., Daily.

YOU CAN Kill all Your Water
Bugs and Roaches
IF YOU USE

BARNARD'S EXTERMINATOR.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AND WARRANTED.
SENT BY MAIL FOR 50 CENTS.

BARNARD & CO., 7 Temple Place, BOSTON.

ESTABLISHED 1841.

J. HENRY HARTWELL & SON,

Undertakers,

4 MEDFORD STREET,
ARLINGTON.

Telephone Connection.

Peirce & Winn Co.

Dealer in

Coals, Wood, Hay, Straw

Grain, Lime, Cement, Plaster, Hair, Fertilizers, Sand, Drain and Sewer Pipes, etc.Teaming Pillsbury Flour, New England Gas and Coke Co's Coke

Arlington, Arlington Heights, and Lexington

Post-office Box B, Arlington

Telephone, 8-2 Arlington

MY SPECIALTY

is correcting such Eye troubles as are caused by Defective Vision, etc.Oculists' Prescriptions Compounded, OPTICAL REPAIRING.

Prices as low as is consistent with requirements.

FRED W. DERBY, Refracting Optician,
406 Massachusetts Ave. Arlington.WM. BENDIX'S
School of Music,

4th SEASON,

Will open for the Fall and Winter Season,
Monday, Sept. 2, 1901.Thorough instructions given on Piano, Violin, Flute, Clarinet, Guitar, etc.
Any number of musicians, including a good prompter, furnished for all occasions at reasonable prices. For terms, address,
WM. BENDIX, 2 Park ter., ArlingtonJ. E. LANGEN,
And "JUD" the Barber,

are one and the same person. And he is doing better work than ever, now. Three chairs in operation; skilled workmen; every tool sterilized by means of an antiseptic. Also, a bootblack in constant attendance. Shop never closed except Sunday.

Specialties: Ladies' shampooing. Children's hair-cutting. For strictly first class, up-to-date work, try "Jud." He can please the most fastidious.

Cor. Mystic St., and Mass. Ave.,
Over the Drug Store, - ARLINGTON.H. P. LONGLEY, QUICK LUNCH,Confectionery, Cigars, Tobacco, Tonics, Soda, Fruit.BOSTON ELEVATED WAITING ROOM, Arlington.ARLINGTON SOCIETIES,
CHURCHES, ETC.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

E. Nelson Blake, president; Wm. D. Higgins, cashier. Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. Open daily from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; on Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 8.30.

ARLINGTON CO-OPERATIVE BANK.

Geo. D. Moore, president; R. Walter Hillard, secretary; W. A. Pelce, treasurer. Meets in banking rooms of First National bank, first Tuesday in each month, at 7.30 p.m. Money offered at auction at 8.30.

ARLINGTON FIVE-CENT SAVINGS BANK.

Bank building, corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. William G. Peck, president; H. Blasdale, secretary and treasurer. Open daily from 3 to 5.30 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9.

ARLINGTON BOAT CLUB.

Meets first Monday in each month at clubhouse on margin of Spy pond. Admission fee, $10; annual dues, $15.

ARLINGTON FINANCE CLUB.

Meets by invitation fourth Tuesday in each month.

FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Hiram Lodge.

Meets in Masonic hall, corner Massachusetts avenue and Medford street, Thursday on or before the full moon.

Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter.

Meets third Tuesday of each month in Masonic hall.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS.

Bethel Lodge, No. 12.

Meets in Odd Fellows hall, Bank building every Wednesday evening, at 8.

Ida F. Butler Rebekah Lodge, No. 152.

Meets first and third Monday evenings of each month in Bethel lodge room.

ANCIENT ORDER OF UNITED WORKMEN.

Circle Lodge, No. 77.

Meets first and third Fridays of each month in Grand Army hall, Massachusetts avenue, at 8 p.m.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

No. 109.

Meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month in K. of C. hall, over Shattuck's store.

ROYAL ARCANUM.

Menotomy Council, No. 1781.

Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in Grand Army hall, 370 Massachusetts avenue, at 8 p.m.

UNITED ORDER OF INDEPENDENT OLD LADIES.

Golden Rule Lodge, No. 51.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, the second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

Francis Gould Post, No. 36.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, Massachusetts avenue, second and fourth Thursdays of each month, at 8 o'clock p.m.

Women's Relief Corps, No. 43.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, Massachusetts avenue, second and fourth Thursday afternoons of each month, at 2 o'clock.

SONS OF VETERANS.

Camp 45.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, on the third Wednesday of each month, at 8 o'clock p.m.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

Meets in St. John's Parish house, Maple street, second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

ANCIENT ORDER OF HIBERNIANS.

Division 23.

Meets in Hibernian hall, corner Mystic and Chestnut streets, first and third Thursdays of each month, at 7.30 p.m.

Division 43.

Meets first Tuesday in each month, at K. of C. hall.

FORESTERS OF AMERICA.

Court Pride of Arlington.

Meets in K. of C. hall, the first and third Mondays of each month.

MASSACHUSETTS CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS.

St. Malachi Court.

Meets at Hibernian hall first and third Thursdays.

ROBBINS PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Building is open to the public as follows: Sundays, 2.30 to 5.30 p.m.; Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 10 to 12 a.m.; 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p.m.; book room, 3 to 6 p.m.; Wednesdays, 10 to 12 m., 1 to 9 p.m.; book room, 1 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 9 p.m.; book room, 1 to 9 p.m.; Wednesdays and Saturdays only, during the month of August.

Arlington Heights Branch.

Open Tuesdays and Saturdays from 1 to 6; 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays, 3 to 6, 7 to 9 p.m.

TOWN OFFICERS.

Selectmen meet at their office in town hall on the last Monday evening of each month, for approval of bills. Regular meetings each Saturday evening.

Town clerk and treasurer, office hours, 9 a.m. to 12 m.; 2 to 5 p.m.; also Mondays, 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 12 m. only.

Board of health, on call of chairman.

Engineers fire department, Saturday before last Monday, each month.

School committee, third Tuesday evening of each month.

Sewer commissioners, on call of chairman.

Trustees of cemetery, on call of chairman.

Water commissioners, first Saturday in each month.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Hose No. 1, on Park avenue; Hose No. 2, on Massachusetts avenue; Menotomy hook and ladder; Hose No. 3, on Broadway; Brackett chemical; Eagle hose, Henderson street.

ARLINGTON FIRST PARISH.

(Unitarian.)

Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. Rev. Frederic G. Hill, pastor. Boards with Mrs. J. C. Harris, 23 Academy street. Sunday morning preaching service at 10.45; Sunday school at noon, except July and August.

ARLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

Services on Sunday in Grand Army hall, Massachusetts avenue, Rev. Charles H. Watson, D. D., minister. Residence, 26 Academy street. Sunday service at 10.45 a.m.; Sunday school at noon; Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6.15 p.m.; evening church service at 7.45 o'clock.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH.

Cor. of Westminister and Park Avenues. Sunday services: morning worship and sermon, 10.45 a.m.; Sunday school, 12 m.; evening service, with short talk, 7 p.m. Weekly prayer meeting, Friday evening, 7.45 p.m.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Services in Crescent hall. Preaching Sunday 10.45 a.m. Sunday school, 12 m. Song service, 7 p.m. Preaching, 7.45 p.m.

ORTHODOX CONGREGATIONAL.

Corner Pleasant and Maple streets. Rev. Samuel C. Bushnell, pastor; residence on Maple street, opposite the church. Sunday services at 10.45 a.m.; Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30 p.m. Sunday school at noon, except during July and August; Friday evenings, at 7.30, social service in vestry.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST.

Massachusetts avenue, opposite Academy street. Rev. Harry Fay Fister, pastor. Gray street. Sunday services in the morning at 10.45; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August; Y. P. Union at 6.30 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL.

Corner Academy and Maple streets. Rector, the Rev. James Teames. Sunday services at 10.30 a.m.; other services according to church calendar.

PARK AVENUE CHURCH.

(Orthodox Congregational.)

Corner Park and Wollaston avenues, Arlington Heights. Rev. John G. Taylor, pastor. Sunday morning service at 10.45; Sunday school at 12.15; Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6.30 p.m.; Sunday afternoon at 3.70, Junior C. E. meeting; Friday evening at 7.45, prayer meeting.

ST. AGNES, CATHOLIC.

Corner Medford and Chestnut streets. Rev. John M. Mulcahy, pastor. Rev. A. J. Fitzgerald, Rev. A. S. Malone, assistants. Reside at parsonage, 24 Medford street, next to church. Mass at 7 and 9 a.m.; high mass at 10.30; Sunday school at 2.30 p.m.; vespers at 3.30 p.m.

ARLINGTON LINE BIBLE SCHOOL.

Corner Massachusetts Avenue and Tannery Street.

Services—Every Sunday afternoon at 3.30; preaching at 7.30 Sunday evenings; Thursday evening meeting at 7.45.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES" the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use. "SNUFFLES" is the only perfect CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently, and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD IN THE HEAD. CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE."

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. B 680 EDWIN B. GILES & COMPANY, 2

MISS COMMODORE.

WORDS AND MUSIC BY ED ROGERS.

Published by the Robert Recker Co.,
106 W. 28th St., N. Y.

§ VOICE.

Miss Com - mo - dore's a pret - ty maid who love's the boys in She's real - ly versed in all the rules of na - val ex - er -

March tempo.

blue Her dad's be - com - ing fam - ous ev - 'ry day. She's a cise And calls on bat - tle ships when they're in port. To mod - el of pro - pri - e - ty a girl that looks quite new In see her when she takes com - mand, The boys just watch her eyes. She na - val cos - tume makes a grand dis - play. At loves to call at - ten - tion just for sport. At yacht - ing or at row - ing she's a dai - sy you can bet. Her us - ing sword or bayonet none can beat her don't for - get. This e - qual you have nev - er seen be - fore. She's a maid - en is a Yan - kee to the core. When she cred - it to our na - vy, yes and one you can't for - get. The shout to them to car - ry arms and charge well you can bet, They're boys have christened her Miss Com - mo - dore proud to have a La - dy Com - mo - dore

CHORUS.

The Ad - mir - als sa - lute her as she pass - es by, They wink their eye And say oh! my! Her style of dress will tell you that she's somewhat fly, For Miss

Com - mo - dore's a cred - it to our nav - y

Copyright, 1900-1901, by Robert Recker & Co.

Granolithic

Sidewalks, Steps, Curb - ing, Coping, Walks,
Floors, Etc.ALL CLASSES OF CEMENT CONCRETE CONSTRUCTION.

Asphalt.

Rock Asphalt and Trini - dad Asphalt Floors and Pavements.

CELLARS MADE WATERTIGHT.

Tar Concrete

Sidewalks, Walks, Drive - ways.

L. C. TYLER,

Boots, Shoes and Rubbers

"QUEEN QUALITY SHOES" for Ladies.
Also Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods,
Trunks, and Bags, Men's and Boy's Clothing,
Boy's Short Pants.At the Corner Store, Bank Building,
ARLINGTON.

J. W. RONCO.

HAIR DRESSER

Is Still in the Business.

POST OFFICE BUILDING,
ARLINGTON.

HENRY A. BELLAMY,

Contractor

AND

Builder,

72 WALNUT STREET, ARLINGTON.

OFFICE:

113 DEVONSHIRE ST., BOSTON.
Telephone, 3488-3 Main.

L. WINE, Fine Shoe Repairing,

for ladies and gentlemen. First-class work at lowest prices. Shoeblack 9 to 12 Sunday.
616 MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE.

NOW

IS THE TIMEwhen business is dull to lay plans for the coming busy season.
Do not delay till you see signs of getting busy. Begin now by send - ing out your printed matter and letting your customers know you are alive.

We are Ready to give you just the kind of printing to draw trade. A postal, or call Telephone 301-2 Arlington, will bring us and we will talk the matter over to our mutual benefit.

Calendars for 1902.

We are showing the finest line of calendars ever exhibited in town and can make it an object for the local business men to ob - tain them right at home. Call and see them, or let us come and show them to you at your conven - ience. We are booking orders now for December delivery.

The.....

ENTERPRISE
PRINT

STEDMAN & DUNCAN

Room 38,

P. O. Building,
Arlington

DAVID CLARK,

32 years in the hacking business, is still at same business at 10 MILL STREET, ARLINGTON.

Rubber-tired carriages for funerals, wedding and evening parties. Also a wagonette for pleasure parties Tel connection.

A Quick Lunch

Or a Good Dinner

May be obtained at the COLUMBIAN CAFE,
TOBACCO AND CIGARS.A. C. LABREQUE, Railroad Crossing,
ARLINGTON.

FLORA OF KANSAS.

BY DR. W. O. PERKINS.

(Continued from Last Week.)

WATER PLANTS.

Most noticeable among the water plants in the eastern part of the state is the white water lily (Castalia), with beautiful, frag - rant, many-petaled white flowers and large floating leaves. More frequent is the yellow pond lily (Nelumbo), called by the Indians "youkopl". Other common water plants are: Arrowhead, water plantain, water milfoil, water hemlock, watercress, rushes, a variety of the acanthus family,
with an erect stem and cluster of violets, called water willow; juncos, and a water vine of the evening primrose variety, with yellow flowers and long calyx tubes.Of grasses and sedges there is a great vari - ety. Grasses have leaves, one in a place, starting from a joint alternately on op - posite sides of the stem. Sedges have rush - like triangular stems, with grass-like single leaves, one at each angle.Grass is the most widely distributed of all plant beings; it is the type of life and em - blem of mortality. It flourishes in the rich valleys and invades the sandy deserts, and should its harvest fail for a single year, famine would depopulate the earth. One grass differs from another grass in glory.
Some grasses are useful, others ornamental.
Timothy holds its head high; and clover, although more humble, stands well up in the scale. Recently, when travelling down an easy decline in the southeastern part of the state, we suddenly came to a steep de - scent, which revealed a crescent of dazzling verdure, glittering like a rich meadow in early spring. This unexpected view was as surprising as the sea to the soldiers of Xenophon, as they shouted "Thalatta." My companion, greatly excited, cried out "Blue grass!" It appeared to me green, tinted with blue, but no grass was ever more beau - tiful. It is not only the most useful grass, but makes a most excellent lawn, which cannot be made with native grasses.Alfalfa is the most important of the culti - vated grasses in the western part of the state. Its roots often reach fifteen feet be - low the surface. The prairie grasses are many in number, the most important of which are buffalo grass, blue-stem, red-top, sedge grass, wild wheat grass.Buffalo grass is common in the central, and abundant in the western part of the state. It is very nutritious, stands only three to five inches high, matted on the ground; while its roots run down into the earth from ten to fifteen feet. It reaches down till it finds moisture, and is therefore especially adapted to a dry climate.

TREES.

There is very little true forest in Kansas, at least no "timber land," as understood in New England. The trees found on the streams and on the hillsides in the east are increasing by planting and protection from fires. Hazel, blackberry, box elder, syc - amore, basswood, soft maple, catalpa, pecan, cottonwood, locust, mulberry, ash, plum,crab-apple and cherry are the most com - mon native trees, oak, elm, hickory and walnut being found in the eastern part of the state.

PRAIRIE FLOWERS.

The prairie flowers are legion, but I can name only a few of them.Kansas is the "Sunflower state." While the sunflower is indigenous, it does not ap - pear till the prairie turf is broken. Whence the seed? Is it a plant "whose seed is in itself upon (or in) the earth,"—a case of spontaneous generation? The Kansas sun - flower (Helianthus decapetalus) is different from that in the east. Why shouldn't it be? Kansas is a great state and does things in its own way. It is the centre of the terrestrial ball; the lynchpin of the uni - verse. Its sunflowers grow to a height of from five to fifteen feet, with numerous branches and sub-branches, each terminat - ing with a flower. A Kansas sunflower that did not produce a dozen blossoms would be ashamed of itself. I have counted 100 bloss - oms on a single plant. The sunflowers are the golden glory of the state, and one of the most conspicuous features that reach the eye of the traveller.The wild rose (Rosa setigera) is one of the most common and interesting of the prairie flowers. It is in the field and pasture and by the roadside, from the last week in May to the last day of June. It varies in color from white to dark red. In Kansas it is not a climber. Some of the most interest - ing prairie flowers are, in April, violets wild hyacinth, field pansy, trailing verbena, prairie peas, ground plum, pink sorrel, dan - dellion, wild onion (clusters of pink star - shaped flowers that blend well in bouquets), and anemones. In May, crimson poppy mallow, spiderwort, scarlet gaura, large evening primrose, Jersey tea or "red-root," wild four-o'clock, white allionia, larkspur, white and pink yarrow. In June, wild ger - anium, yellow sorrel, leather-root, wild let - tuce of several colors, star grass, large white indigo and sensitive brian-rose—a beautiful pink blossom about the size and shape of a large round strawberry, and of delicate fragrance; with many others. In summer are a showy cornopsis, crimson and white prairie clovers, orange-red butterfly weed, rue, which resembles the petunia, numerous cassia plants and prairie acacia.
In autumn are many-flowered aster and blue gentian, and many others very bril - liant. There are numerous flowering trees and shrubs, which give a gay appearance to the timber belts. Also a great variety of flowering herbs, such as adder-tongue ("Easter lilies"), May apple, blue phlox, Solomon-seal, American bell-flower, and oth - ers. The bush morning-glory, shoestring, wild gourd, squirrel-tail, narrow-leaved yucca, sage-brush, many varieties of cactus and other plants peculiar to a dry climate are common in the western part of the state.In studying the floral clock of Kansas, we find that native flowers, during their sea - son, blossom every hour, beginning with the thistle-poppy at 1 o'clock a. m., and closing with the tall gaura, which opens at 9 p. m.The "floral clock" includes nearly 100 vari - eties of flowers. Moon flowers and night - blooming cacti fill the rest of the 24 hours.It is interesting to study the habits of plants. Many are sensitive to touch; all are sensitive to gravity; to contiguity of sur - rounding objects, to atmospheric influences, to time, light and heat. Other peculiarities, as their likes and dislikes, might be dwelt upon, but my sheet is full.

Clyde, Kan., June 29.

Pleasant Street
Market.CHOICE MEATS, FRESH VEGETABLES, CREAMY BUTTER,
FRUITS.

12 Pleasant Street, Arlington.

D. F. COLLINS,
Dry Goods,
Small Wares

GENT'S FURNISHINGS.

472 Massachusetts Avenue,
ARLINGTON.

JAMES E. DUFFY,

Hair Dresser,
Pool Room Connected.

461 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington.

B. SWENSEN,
INTERIOR PAINTER.Ceiling, Enameling and Hardwood Finish - ing a Specialty. All kinds of work done in a first-class manner.Resident of Arlington 12 years. Best of references given.

10 Teel Place, Arlington, Mass.

J. C. McDONALD,
Fruit and Confectionery.Hot and Cold Soda and QUICK LUNCH

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

Lexington and Boston Waiting Room, Arlington Heights.

THE HOME GOLD CURE.

An Ingenious Treatment by Which Drunkards are Being Cured Daily in Spite of Themselves.No Noxious Doses. No Weakening of the Nerves. A Pleasant and Positive Cure for the Liqueur Habit.It is now generally known and under - stood that Drunkenness is a disease and not weakness. A body filled with poison, and nerves completely shattered by peri - odical or constant use of intoxicating liquors, requires an antidote capable of neutralizing and eradicating this poison, and destroying the craving for intoxi - cants. Sufferers may now cure them - selves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonder - ful "HOME GOLD CURE" which has been perfected after many years of close study and treatment of inebriates. The faithful use according to directions of this wonderful discovery is positively guaranteed to cure the most obstinate case, no matter how hard a drinker.
Our records show the marvelous trans - formation of thousands of Drunkards into sober, industrious and upright men.
WIVES CURE YOUR HUSBANDS!!
CHILDREN CURE YOUR FATHERS!!
This remedy is in no sense a nostrum but a specific for this disease only, and is so skillfully devised and prepared that it is thoroughly soluble and pleasant to the taste, so that it can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowl - edge of the person taking it. Thousands of Drunkards have cured themselves with this priceless remedy, and as many more have been cured and made tem - perate men by having the "CURE" ad - ministered by loving friends and rela - tives without their knowledge in coffee or tea, and believe today that they dis - continued of their own free will. DO NOT WAIT. Do not be deluded by ap - parent and misleading "improvement."
Drive out the disease at once and for all time. The "HOME GOLD CURE" is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, thus placing within reach of everybody a treatment more effectual than others costing $25 and $50. Full directions accompany each package.
Special advice by skilled physicians when requested, without extra charge.
Sent prepaid to any part of the world on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept.
B 680 EDWIN B. GILES & COMPANY,
2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.
All correspondence strictly confidential.CRAMOND & DUNSFORD, Jobbing Carpenters,Shop, 10 Bacon St., Arlington,
Off Mass. Ave., on J. M. Chase's Estate.

All Orders Promptly Attended To.

J. CRAMOND, 280 Mass. Ave., Arlington.

F. DUNSFORD, 9 Grove St., Arlington.

D. BUTTRICK,

Dealer in

Butter and Eggs,

Wholesale and Retail.

Orders by mail promptly attended to. Team will call once a week if desired.

Residence, 15 Swan St., Arlington

BELMONT AND WAVERLEY.

had the effect of showing off the statuary and friezes to fine advantage. The desks have all been nicely varnished and everything is in readiness for the pupils to resume their work.

Miss Mabel Butman is to take the place of Miss Anna J. Newton, who has been given a year's leave of absence, and bice. About 300 workers of the Cambridge branch of the Salvation Army held a picnic party during the day.

About 300 members of the Boston Armenian's Young Men's club and ladies held an enjoyable picnic and field day. Games of ball were held in the morning. At noon a basket lunch was served. In the afternoon Armenian games were enjoyed. The evening was a comedy and concert. The proceeds will be used to alleviate the sufferings of orphans left in Armenia as a result of the terrible massacres which are being carried on there.

About 35 members of the Everett Advent church held a picnic on the grounds.

In addition to these church and society gatherings there were many family groups scattered here and there about the enclosure, all of whom seemed to be enjoying a royal good time.

ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL.

The Arlington public schools reopen for the fall term Monday. Members of the high school will meet at the high school building as follows: The ninth grade and freshman class at 8 o'clock, sophomores at 9, juniors at 9.45 and the seniors at 10.30 Monday morning.

The interior of the school building has been greatly improved in appearance during the vacation season. In the basement the walls have been treated to coats of whitewash, the walls and ceilings of the school rooms as well as the hall in the upper story have been tinted in very pretty colors. The tinting has meant the saving of shining off the statuary and friezes to fine advantage. The desks have all been nicely varnished and everything is in readiness for the pupils to resume their work.

Miss Mabel Butman is to take the place of Miss Anna J. Newton, who has been given a year's leave of absence, and Miss Agnes H. Roop substitutes for Miss Susan L. Austin, who also has leave of absence for a year.

Baker N. J. Hardy has been entertaining his friends with a new Victor talking machine, for which he is agent at his store in the center, the past week

THE ENTERPRISE.

WILSON FALMER, Editor.
Telephone 301-2.

[Entered as Second-Class Matter.]

Saturday, September 7, 1901.

THE ENTERPRISE IS FOR SALE IN ARLINGTON BY:

Arlington News Co., Postoffice Bldg., Arlington.
Frank R. Daniels, 60 Mass. avenue, Arlington.
Mrs. Margaret Deane, 55 Park avenue, Heights.
H. P. Longley, Elevated waiting room, Heights.
J. C. McDonald, L. & B. waiting room, Heights.
Edward I. McKenzie, B. & M. station, Heights.

TO SCHOOL AGAIN.

To school again will be the cry of the children on Monday morning. The vacation is over, and now it is work again. The Enterprise has always taken a lively interest in the public schools of Arlington, and its interest in them will grow no less for their future. This town has no interest which overshadows that of the education of her boys and girls. Our Arlington schools deserve much for they have accomplished much. We have able and willing teachers and pupils who are gladly receptive so there is no reason why we may not expect better and better educational results as the years succeed each other. Supt. Sutcliffe and Principal Holt well understand the philosophy of education, and so with their competent and efficient corps of teachers all will be right if they are wisely led alone by the school committee in all that pertains to subject matter and methods of instruction. We have for a long time been of the opinion, and are now, that the wisest plan for the town would be to have a school committee of three business men, instead of a membership of seven or nine, as at present arranged, and making it as now practically a condition precedent, that some of these shall be school men. Could we have our way there would never be a teacher or an ex-teacher on our school boards, and the reason for this must be evident to everyone. Whoever saw a teacher who did not suppose his methods in school work were the best? And all this is commendable—but don't let him hinder and clog the way of another by insisting that that other teacher shall adopt his methods. With two or three business men, Supt. Sutcliffe and Principal Holt are abundantly able to do their respective work apart from a burdensome school committee.

The Enterprise is glad to welcome home again our teachers and the children. Whatever aid the Enterprise can give our schools will always be cheerfully given.

HOW ABOUT THE VACATION?

How about the vacation time which is now so rapidly drawing to a close? Have you made the most of it? Have you rested from your labors, and taken no undue thought of your business life? If so, then you have created anew, and are ready to begin work where you left off, with a new purpose and a new zeal. If you take the country home with you into your suburban and city lives, then your vacation has paid you. In speaking for ourselves we can affirm without modification, that the last few weeks past and gone have brought us that simpler rustic life wherein we have seen men and women more nearly as God has made them. The cold, formal conventionalities of society life have had little or nothing to do with our present summertime. During our days off we have gotten at men and women, and they have gotten at us. We have had as our companion all nature in her best moods. We have roamed the field and the wood at our own sweet will. The birds have sung to us more sweetly than ever before. The lullaby of the little brook by the roadside has been to us more restful than heretofore. The truth is, we started out from our Arlington home nearly two months ago to make the most of our vacation. True it is that at no time have we forgotten the Enterprise. Our early mornings have been religiously devoted to its editorial columns, and added to all this it has been for us and is a pleasure to send along our weekly letter. While enjoying our surroundings in the mountains and our too brief day by the sea we have kept ourselves in touch with the Enterprise office, and this has in no way interfered with the uninterrupted pleasures of our present outing; for we have well known all the while that the live manager of the Enterprise would not be caught napping, and that he would allow no grass to grow under his feet. It is a source to us of no little satisfaction and pride that the Enterprise shows such evidence of growth in spite of the hot weather. The news columns cover a much larger field than they did two months ago, which logically means a larger subscription list and more advertising. Someone has evidently been at work on the Enterprise during all these days of the summertime. The fact is, the Enterprise never slumbers and sleeps. It is up and at it all the while. So we have fortunately been in condition to have the jolly good time that we have had, among the "everlasting silences." Well, we shall be home one of these days, not quite yet, when we expect to bring to the Enterprise a new birth editorially. We believe not only in the "second birth," but we believe in a new birth each day. If the vacation has answered its purpose, then Arlington will have been born anew, so that she will start out on her autumn campaign of work with a new life and with a higher purpose, which will necessarily manifest themselves in the pulpit, in our public schools, and in our local journalism,—indeed, in all departments of our public interests.

THE OLD STAGE COACH.

The old stage coach is not yet entirely a thing of the past, for as we write there has just gone by our temporary home here in the country one of those old fashioned stage coaches so well known fifty years ago, drawn by four horses. This stage coach of which we write, and which is still within sight, connects Deerfield with Candia, Deerfield, it will be remembered, is distinguished for being the birthplace of the late irrepressible Benjamin E. Butler, who was bound to become governor of Massachusetts and who did, in the early eighties, become its chief executive. Well, about this stage coach. It reminds us very vividly of the stage line that a half century ago connected Concord, N. H., with Lowell, Mass. We can now see that old stage as though it were but yesterday, coming in sight at our old home, when we children would all shout at once, "the stage is coming, the stage is coming," and "see, it is packed full with a dozen or more passengers on the outside." And then those heavy trunks, strapped on behind! What a load, all counted!

We remember distinctly that the stage for Lowell went past at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, and the up stage, for Concord, put in its appearance at two o'clock in the afternoon. There is something about the old stage coach that we love. First we love it because the fathers and mothers made their way by it, so the law of association endears it to us. And then it brings to mind that informal social life, which so prevailed in those more primitive days. With our many modern improvements we have lost in many ways, as well as gained in many ways. The law existing between loss and compensation will forevermore hold good. While the steam cars take us with lightning speed to our various points of destination, still by an inevitable law they go past many a cordial hand shake, and many a pleasant "good morning."

We, the American people, are now so constantly on the move, and at such a rapid rate, that we cannot well stop for a chat by the roadside. We have lost much of our grip upon heart and soul, through this everlasting push and hurry in doing things. In former days things moved so slowly that one had time to take in the situation. Men and women in those days were never in a hurry. Meeting upon the road they gladly hailed each other for a half hour's talk, and mind you they always somehow managed "to get there." Now, this old stage coach which has just gone by, stands or moves its slow way along as the representative of years long gone by, and as such we hastened to the depot to have a talk with its driver. We found upon inquiry that this same old coach has been doing service for the past fifty years and has carried many a distinguished New Englander over its route. So interested did we become in this four-wheeled chariot of an age way back, that we climbed into it, and on top of it, and all over it, that we might catch something of the by-gones.

As we bade the driver good-bye he promised us at our urgent request that he would at an early date, have a picture of the old stage coach with its four mettlesome steeds taken for the lovers of the olden times. So soon we shall have all our own, our coach of four.

Welch's Market.

Groceries and Provisions,
941 Massachusetts Ave., Arlington.
Telephone Connection, 21353.

MISS K. T. McGRATH, Dressmaker.

456 Mass. Ave. Arlington.
Our Motto: "Quality, not Quantity."

WETHERBEE BROS.,
Jewelers and Cycle Dealers,

480 MASSACHUSETTS AVE.,
Telephone Connection. ARLINGTON.

WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY,
Eyeglasses and Spectacles. Fine
Watch, Clock, Jewelry and Optical
Repairing. All work guaranteed.

NEW AND SECOND HAND
Bicycles. Fine Repairing. Tires
Vulcanized in a First-class Manner. Lawn Mowers, Scissors and Knives Ground.

Automobile Station

THE COMFORTS OF LIFE

include, as one of the first, good, tender, juicy meat, and this is essential to health and strength. The meats at Stone's are the best in the market, coming always from cattle in prime condition. We sell nothing but the best meats of every kind.

C. H. STONE & SON,
Cor. Mass. and Park Aves.
Arlington Heights.
Telephone 131-4 Arlington.

W. L. CHENERY,
Insurance,
Belmont, Mass.

DRAGGED BY THE TRAIN.

Arlington Gate Tender Meets With
First Serious Accident—Aged 83
Years, Has Three Ribs and Two Wrists Fractured.

Henry G. Ruffley, of 25 Mill street, is lying at the Massachusetts General hospital with three ribs and both wrists broken, as the result of an accident at the Mill street railroad crossing Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Ruffley is 83 years of age, and although were he a younger man he would probably recover, it will take some days to determine what the outcome will be. He has been visited by several of his family, and he expresses a belief that he will recover.

Mr. Ruffley for the past ten years has been the gate man at the Mill street crossing, and in the winter and summer, he has seldom been missed from his post. Tuesday afternoon, while the 3 o'clock freight was switching back and forth, Mr. Ruffley was attending to his duties. He was on the lookout for the 3.59 train for Boston, and it is thought he unconsciously stepped close to the track where the engine of the freight train was running up and down. At all events, in some way he stepped or fell against the rear of the engine, between it and the forward car. His clothing caught sufficiently to hold him from going under the wheels, but he was dragged along between 15 and 30 feet with his head dragging over the ties along the track. He was wedged in between the rails in such a manner that had his clothing given way he might not have been run over by the wheels, but would have been torn to pieces. Luckily the engine was running at a very slow speed, and the attention of the engineer was aroused by an excited bystander whose name was not known, but who pointed to the rear of the engine. The engine reversed the lever and jumped out of the way, and vestigate. He saw Mr. Ruffley but did not recognize him. Calling to some of the other trainmen they pulled the injured man from his position and greatly to the surprise of all he was able to speak to them. They then saw who it was despite the blood which was coming from cuts and wounds on his hands, face and head. He was tenderly cared for and removed to his home nearby, and Dr. R. D. Young was summoned. After a hasty examination it was thought best to remove him to the hospital, and he was taken there on the 5.24 train. At no time was he unconscious but he suffered considerable pain.

Upon looking over the track where the accident happened, it would appear that though the man was dragged nearly 30 feet, but the engineer did not think it could have been as far as that. At all events, it seemed a most miraculous escape. He was not killed outright. His watch was found alongside the track. Mr. Ruffley could not tell exactly how the accident happened for he was caught by the train before he could get into his trade in his trouble, and it is not known that anyone saw the affair. Much sorrow was expressed on all sides when the accident became known, for Mr. Ruffley is well liked by all who know him.

Mr. Ruffley lives with his daughter, Mrs. E. F. Johnson, on Mill street. Previous to his being employed at the crossing he had been in the trade in his old saw factory on Grove street. He was employed there almost continuously from 1845 until the shop was closed. He was one of the first to join the old Eureka fire company, and provided for a time had been connected with the old Olive Branch fire company. He is a member of Genesee lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 10, in which city he was employed for a few months.

ARLINGTON GOLF.

The qualifying round for the Labor day cup was played by the Arlington Golf club Monday morning, and resulted in a tie between A. B. Hill and E. C. Woods at 89. Play was from scratch.

Class A—A. B. Hill 89, E. C. Woods 89, H. B. Wood 93, J. Hardy 104, W. Sears 104, E. L. Rankin 105, T. Walcott 108, J. A. Bailey, J. C. Hill.

Class B—George Brooks 109, R. Bacon 111, M. Cushman 114, J. C. Gray 118, H. Rice 120, H. Hardy 120, W. G. Rice 126, C. O. Hill 128.

Following are the drawings: Class A, Hill vs. Hardy, Woods vs. Sears, Wood vs. Rankin, Bailey vs. Walcott; class B, Brooks vs. W. G. Rice, Cushman vs. Hill, H. Rice vs. Bacon, H. Hardy vs. Gray.

There was a nine-hole women's competition, medal play, which was won by Miss Annabelle Parker, with a net of 65. Miss Annabelle Parker 65, Miss F. A. Hill 74, Miss E. Teel 74, Mrs. W. G. Rice 81, Mrs. Oliver 82, Miss Alice Teel 82, Miss Alice Homer 85, Miss M. Walcott 92.

A mixed foursome competition was the attraction in the afternoon. The summary follows: net scores being given: H. Rice and Miss Cushman 109, R. Bacon and Mrs. Oliver 96, George Brooks and Miss F. A. Hill 101, H. B. Wood and Miss A. Parker 109, C. O. Hill and Miss E. Teel 112, W. G. Rice and H. Hardy 114. Alex. Findlay was at the links all day, and lowered the nine-hole course record of 40 to 39.

Play for the Miss Florence Hill cup for ladies began Wednesday afternoon at the Arlington Golf club. Miss Elizabeth Adams, with a net of 54, received 3 points; Miss Edith Teel, with 55, 2 points, and Miss Alice Teel, with 57, 1 point. Play will be continued every Wednesday in this month and October.

REAL ESTATE SALE.

Henry W. Savage has sold for the John P. Wyman estate a lot of land on the corner of Broadway and Palmer street, containing 947 feet, assessed on $170. The price paid was in excess of the assessed valuation. The purchaser whose name is withheld buys to improve.

MASS. C. E. CONVENTION.

The state convention of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor union will be held this year at North Adams on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 15 and 16. The western part of the state has never before had the opportunity of welcoming the Christian Endeavorers from other parts of Massachusetts, while many from the eastern sections do not appreciate the beauty of the Berkshire hills and the Deerfield valley. It will be an attractive fall trip to the city of North Adams, which is 143 miles from Boston on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine R. R. and 21 miles from North Adams to Williamstown, a Beaver and Briggsville. The Christian Endeavorers of the city are busily planning to entertain the convention and the various committees have their work well outlined. Mr. I. E. Hall is chairman of the general committee, Mr. W. R. Hale secretary and Mr. R. L. Chase treasurer. Details of the railroad routes and rates and suggestive ideas from the program will be announced in a week or two.

North Adams is a city of nearly 25,000 inhabitants, with electric street railroads connecting it with Adams, Williamstown, and North Adams. The city is a beautiful one, and the Christian Endeavorers of the city are busily planning to entertain the convention and the various committees have their work well outlined. Mr. I. E. Hall is chairman of the general committee, Mr. W. R. Hale secretary and Mr. R. L. Chase treasurer. Details of the railroad routes and rates and suggestive ideas from the program will be announced in a week or two.

Fruit, Candy
Tonics.
SAMUEL ORTOLANO,
(Successor to Simeone Bros.)
Leonard Street, Belmont.
Odd Lot of Meh's Shoes
For Sale Cheap.
$3.50 and $3.00 for $1.50
$3.50 and $3.00 for $1.00
At L. C. TYLER'S,
BANK BUILDING, ARLINGTON.

GONE TO VERMONT.

Miss Jennie C. Frost Has Accepted a Position as Teacher in the High School at West Randolph, Vermont —Graduated at Tufts last June.

Miss Jennie Clifton Frost, Tufts '01, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frost, of Old Mystic street, has accepted a position as assistant in the high school at West Randolph, Vt., and leaves today to be in readiness to take up the work next Monday. Miss Frost received a telephone message from the school committee of West Randolph, last week Friday, to meet them on Monday and she kept the appointment, returning to Arlington Tuesday. The committee, upon meeting her and examining her qualifications, elected her to the position at once. Miss Frost will teach Latin, Greek and history. The school comprises nearly 100 pupils, many of whom reside in surrounding towns. Randolph is a lively, progressive little town on the Central Vermont railroad about 20 miles south of Montpelier. Miss Frost anticipates her new work with pleasure and will, no doubt, make a success in her chosen field.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.

It has always been plain enough that there was something about the vitality, burlesque, but the extraordinary career of "Evangeline," which has had not less than 2500 performances in the United States, is regarded as phenomenal. So great is the drawing power of the piece, it having never once been presented to a losing house, that Manager Rice has determined on making a most sumptuous revival, and Manager David Henderson has accepted Mr. Rice's invitation. It is positively asserted that the production will surpass in scenery and costumes any hitherto witnessed, and the cast will contain a host of performers whose abilities will ensure a really meritorious performance. Apart from the artistic presentations of "Evangeline," the Columbia theatre will offer attractive features, at the popular scale of prices, 15c. to $1, now the rule at some of the chief New York amusement resorts, to be found in no other first class Boston play-house. The theatre comes nearer being a duplicate of the London Alhambra than any other in this country. The auditorium is a spacious one, the stage admits of the largest spectacular effects, the foyers and promenades accommodate thousands of loungers and the cafes, smoking-rooms and refreshment rooms afford a pleasant meeting place for busy men who choose to combine theatrical entertainment with other refreshments. The entire structure is decorated and furnished in the most elaborate and artistic manner.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Next week's attraction will be Joseph Arthur's pastoral melodrama, "Lost River," which had a run of six months in New York to financial and artistic returns that placed the play in the front rank of its class. "Lost River, Ind." is the place of action. The characters are fashionable visitors to the famous health resort near by and the unexcited natives of that remote region. The scenery depicting "Lost River Valley" is superb. The panoramic effect shown in the bicycle ride for life, as well as the beautiful view of the Baden toll road with its massive tollgate, are scenes in which two of the most thrilling episodes of the play take place and which aroused the utmost enthusiasm from New York audiences and critics. Mr. Arthur has heretofore been celebrated as a deviser of unique mechanical effects; in fact, as the originator of the buzz saw scene in "Blue Jeans," and the real fire engine in "The 38th Alarm," and other thrills, he originated the much worked system of realism in drama. By special arrangement the management have secured Paul Gilmore, who has starred for several years and last season appeared near by with Henrietta Warren, in "Miss Nell," to play the role of Bob Blessing; Miss Virginia Warren, last season winsome Babbie in "The Little Minister," for the part of Ora, and Miss Elizabeth Woodson, a society actress recently with Stuart Robson, will play Gladys Middleton.

GEO. A. LAW,
Hack and Livery Stable.

Having practically rebuilt the inside of my stable, and added ten new stalls, I am now prepared to take new boarders. I assure first class board and right prices. Teams sent and called for.

Mass. Ave., Arlington.

LAWYER'S SERVICES

are necessary in Landlord and Tenant matters.
Probate of Wills and Settlement of Estates
Drawing Deeds, Wills and Leases.
Collection and Bankruptcy proceedings.

HENRY W. BEAL,

Attorney at Law, 102 Ames Bldg., Boston.
Tel. Main 1086.
Every evening 18 P. O. Building, Arlington.
Tel. Arlington 141-3.

EDUCATIONAL.

Elmhurst Day and Boarding School
High School, Preparatory, Grammar, Primary and Kindergarten Classes.
Oct. 1st, 1901, to June 6th, 1902.
A Public Kindergarten class will be started Oct. 1, 1901. Fee for materials, fifteen dollars per year in advance. Courses preparatory to first and second primary grades.
Address Miss ELIZABETH K. VANDER VEER,
220 Park Ave., Arlington Heights, Mass.

T. M. CANNIFF,
Hairdresser,
943 Mass. ave., Arlington

HEAD COMFORT.

Cures dandruff, cools the head, and gives life and comfort to the hair. It will prevent hair falling out and restores. Makes hair grow on bald heads. Treatment at the home of Mrs. Sophia North, 24 Central street. House from 3 to 5 p.m.

FRANK J. HOLLAND, Engraving.

Small Metal Signs, Door Plates, and Numbers.
Signs Repolished and Refilled.
Mail Orders Promptly Attended To.
12 Sylvia St., Arlington Heights. Box 68.

C. H. GANNETT,
CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR.
Room 2, Essex Building,
53 State St., Boston. Telephone 336-3.
Residence, Academy St., Arlington.

NEBEDEGA

Has Wonderful
Curative Properties.

If you are all run down and find yourself getting thinner from any cause, and the tissues wasting away, leaving the nerves exposed to every irritating influence, TAKE A FLESH BUILDING EMULSION AT ONCE, but be sure it is fresh, and the only way to be sure, is to make the emulsion as it is taken. THIS IS DONE by using Nebedega and freshly prepared oils and cream. For Nursing Babies nothing can surpass an emulsion of this water and cream or fresh milk. If you wish to give baby a little pure oil (and, by the way, nothing is better for the child) just make a little emulsion fresh, put it in the food, and the child takes it without knowing. So easy for the mother and child. Altogether, it is a pure, simple way of giving (or taking) oils.

Correct price list:

Nebedega Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. $1.00
Nebedega Emulsion of Olive Oil, $1.10
Nebedega Emulsion of Sweet Almond Oil, $1.25
Nebedega Emulsion of Cream (Special).

All mail orders promptly filled.

NEBEDEGA CO.,
345-A WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

RELICS TO BE ENTOMBED.

(Continued from Page One.)

tion of singing books; photograph of Architect Rev. Charles H. Watson; record of church membership at the present time; record of society membership at the present time; record of the Sunday school membership at the present time; minutes of Boston North Baptist association for 1900; minutes of Baptist Sunday school convention for 1901; Boston morning and evening daily papers; records of society meetings held while planning new building; form of pledge for subscription for new building; calendar for Rally Sunday when pledges were given; "Cuba Libre" badge worn by school at June 19, 1898 anniversary; calendar of Cambridge First Baptist church services; warrant for Arlington town meeting, March 4, 1901; report of town committee of 21 appointed to review appropriations called for by selectmen March 25, 1901; prospectus and plan of new Baptist church in Watertown by Architect Dunham; Arlington Baptist Harvest services, Oct. 24, 1897; church calendars for April 7, 1901, with names of choir of volunteers; circular notifying for first service after the fire to be held in the Universalist church; program of Easter night service, April 15, 1900; list of assessed polls of Arlington; roster of Post 36, G. A. R., of Arlington; synopsis of minutes of society meetings when whole question of new building was arranged; history of ten years' growth of University of Chicago with cuts of building; history of this church with covenant articles of faith; list of members; silk American flag, presented by past commander of Post 36, Alfred Knowles, who soldered the box.

For the Best of Cutlery and Specialties in Hardware go to

J. B. Hunter & Co.

60 SUMMER STREET,
BOSTON.

Builders' and General Hardware

An Up-to-date Hardware Store.

All Mechanics' Tools of the Best Makers and Material.

GROSSMITH'S
Balsam Tar
Compound
NEVER FAILS to cure Bronchial Coughs and Colds on the Lungs. 25c. Bottle.

C. W. GROSSMITH,

Registered Pharmacist,
Mass. Ave., Cor. Mystic St., Arlington.

Do You or Don't You think a SPRING BROILER or a SPRING DUCK could tempt your appetite? Try 'em. Georgia Peaches just received.

W. K. HUTCHINSON

STORES:
45 PARK AVE.,
669 MASS. AVE.
ARLINGTON.

GEO. D. MOORE,

Licensed Auctioneer
for Middlesex County, and President Arlington
Co-operative Bank.
OFFICE AT CO-OPERATIVE BANK,
624 MASS. AVE., ARLINGTON.
Residence, 138 Broadway.

E. F. DONNELLAN,
Upholsterer & Cabinet Maker

Furniture, Mattresses, Window Shades, Awnings and Draperies made to order. Antiques, Furniture Repaired and Polished. Furniture Repaired. Carpets Made and Laid.
Mail orders promptly attended to.
442 Massachusetts Ave., Arlington.

Dr. G. W. Yale,
DENTIST,

At parlors, 14-16 Post-office Building,
ARLINGTON.

TO LET.
BOARD AND ROOMS. Steam heat.
One room suitable for two gentlemen.
Lovely view across Spy pond. Call and see them. Adam's house, 355 Massachusetts avenue, corner Wyman street, Arlington.

NOTICE.
On the list at the police station for the Cady fund are a few contributions of $1 and $2, signed "A Friend." If parties will call and make themselves known the chief will refund.

HOUSE WANTED IN ARLINGTON OR LEXINGTON. Must contain at least eight rooms; be near steam cars and churches; modern improvements;
some land; neat, moderate. Please address with particulars, F. B. R., P. O. box 2567, Boston, Mass.

Enjoy a Cool Breeze

these hot days by having a fan motor. For sale or to rent Electric Torches

just the thing for camping out.
Gas and Electric Stoves
Flat Irons, Curling Irons,
Heaters, etc.

Portable Lamps and Fancy Shades.

R. W. LeBaron,

Electrician and Contractor.

474 Mass. Avenue, Arlington, Mass.
Telephone Connection.

Cut Flowers,
Funeral Designs,
AND Decorations.

W. W. Rawson's

Corner Medford and Warren Streets,
Arlington.

DR. HENRY J. MURPHY,
DENTIST,
655 Mass. Ave., Arlington

Open Evenings and Sundays for Appointments.

G. W. SAMPSON,
Fire Insurance Life

Hartford Fire Insurance Co., Established 1791
Fire Association of Philadelphia, Estab. 1817
Imperial Fire Ins. Co. of London, Eng., Est. 1803
Worcester Mutual Fire Ins. Co., Estab. 1828.
Equitable Life Assurance Society.
Office, Sherburne's Block, Lexington.

THE ENTERPRISE.

Telephone, Arlington 301-2.

[Entered as Second-Class Matter.]

Saturday, September 7, 1901.

THE ENTERPRISE IS FOR SALE IN

LEXINGTON BY:

H. V. Smith, Lexington.
L. A. Austin, P. O., East Lexington.
W. L. Burrill, P. O., North Lexington.

PUBLISHERS' NOTICE.

B. L. Bowen is the Enterprise representative in Lexington with an office in the postoffice building. All Lexington correspondence should be addressed, "The Enterprise, Lexington."

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

A united nation deplores the foul attempt on the life of President McKinley yesterday afternoon at Buffalo. Men of all political opinions forget their differences today and anxiously await bulletins which announce the president's condition. To say the attempted assassination was due in any way to the men who differ with the president in policy would not only be unjust to a large, patriotic body of men, but a reflection upon our republican form of government. The would-be-assassin is reputed to be an anarchist, and is said to gloat over his crime. In this country, where the ballot controls the policies of government and elects the rulers, there is no room for such men. That his punishment will be speedy we have no doubt, but we fear it will not lessen the tendency to kill.

While the sympathies of a united people go out to the honored president at this time, the patient invalid wife receives her share when her anxiety and fears almost overcome her.

What can be done toward eliminating the mud puddles near the drinking fountain on the common? The minute man deserves better treatment than being surrounded by puddles, especially when so many people from all parts of the country visit him daily. If, as is claimed, the trouble is caused by a leak in a pipe, why not stop the leak and end it?

MOAKLEY'S PHARMACY.

Drugs and Medicines.

Chocolates, Sundries,
Choice Perfumes, Fine Soaps.

CIGARS AND SODAS.

Massachusetts Ave. and Waltham St.,
LEXINGTON.

R. W. Holbrook,

Dealer in Fine

Groceries

IVORY Flour
a Specialty.BRICK STORE,
Massachusetts Avenue,
EAST LEXINGTON.

On September 26, 1901,

the Misses Brooks will reopen their

SCHOOL FOR GIRLS,

to the preparatory department of which boys will be admitted. For terms and further particulars, address

MISS BROOKS.

Warren St., Lexington.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Ayer

A. S. MITCHELL,

AUCTIONEER.

Sales of Real Estate and Personal Property made anywhere in the state. Household Furniture bought or money advanced upon it. Parties wishing to dispose of any kind of property or have any property appraised in settling estates or otherwise can have me call and see them free of charge by sending me a postal card to call.

Boston Office, 113 Devonshire Street.

Telephone 1509 Main.

Residence, Hunt Block, Lexington.

You can have your Bicycle Cleaned and Repaired;

Your Tires Plugged and Vulcanized;

Your Sewing Machine Cleaned and Repaired;

Your Lawn Mowers Cleaned and Sharpened;

Your Grass Shears, Household Scissors and Knives Sharpened;

Your Locks Repaired and Keys Fitted;

Where? Why! at

FISKE BROS.,

MASS. AVE., LEXINGTON, MASS.

W. V. TAYLOR,

PROVISION DEALER,

MASS. AVENUE, LEXINGTON.

Tel. Lexington 34-2. LESTER E. SMITH, Manager.

LUMBER

FOR ALL PURPOSES

Lexington Lumber Co.,

LEXINGTON.

Telephone 48.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Lexington Lad Entertains Friends Previous to Departure for Montreal.

A reception was given at the home of John R. Hughes on Tuesday evening, by a few of his most intimate friends. The occasion of this was on account of his leaving Lexington, Thursday, for Montreal to study for the priesthood. Among those present were: Misses Nora Leary, Maggie Vaughn, Nellie McCarty, Katie Vaughn, Mamie Vaughn and Katie C. Leary, Daniel J. Vaughn, John White, John McNamara, Jr., William Neville, Jr., Leo Wilson and Terry McDonald. They passed a very pleasant evening with games, charades, etc. Refreshments were served late in the evening. Mr. Hughes will be away from home for a year.

LEXINGTON GOLF.

There was an 18-hole handicap at the Lexington golf club Monday morning, which was won by F. F. Sherburne, with a net score of 79 in class A, while H. H. Putnam, with a net score of 76, carried off the honors in class B.

Player.	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
F. F. Sherburne	97	18	79
H. L. Stoughton	102	22	80
G. L. Gilmore	99	18	81
W. M. Tyler	94	12	82
G. A. Sawyer	102	20	82
F. W. Moore	103	20	83
C. B. Davis	106	22	84
C. C. Henderson	101	16	85
R. L. Stevens	96	12	84
C. R. Corwin	101	14	87
F. B. Taylor	104	16	88
E. Wood	104	16	88
C. H. Stevens	109	20	89
W. W. Pierce	96	4	92
W. W. Reed	104	12	92
C. Hemenway	113	20	93
No card, J. E. Hall.

Player.	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
H. H. Putnam	114	38	76
C. K. Arnold	108	32	76
J. F. Turner	128	38	90
C. P. Lincoln	116	24	92
Dr. J. O. Tilton	126	32	94
No card, F. B. Salmon.

The following eight qualified for the fall championship: W. M. Tyler, F. F. Sherburne, R. L. Stevens, F. B. Henderson, C. R. Corwin, G. A. Sawyer, H. L. Houghton and F. W. Moore. For the consolation these qualified: F. E. Wood, F. B. Taylor, W. W. Reed, C. H. Stevens, C. M. Hemenway, C. P. Lincoln, Dr. J. O. Tilton and J. F. Turner.

In the afternoon there was a mixed golf tournament for Mr. L. R. Griffiths and Dr. J. O. Tilton, with a net score of 99.

Players.	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
Miss L. R. Griffiths and Dr. J. O. Tilton	130	31	99
Mrs. and Mr. W. W. Reed	123	21	102
Mrs. and Mr. R. L. Stevens	114	11	103
Mrs. Edwin Reed and C. B. Davis	119	16	103
Miss Barrett and J. F. Turner	143	34	144
Whiting and G. L. Gilmore	136	24	111

OLD BELFRY CLUB.

A few of the boys from the Old Belfry club go to Andover today to play in a tennis tournament. Arthur Turner, Will Ballard and Arthur Redmond are to play in the doubles and Lester Redmond in the singles.

The tennis tournament at the club has not been finished as yet, but they hope to settle it by a week from today.

MICE AND MATCHES.

An alarm from box 56 Sunday night called the fire department to a small blaze in a dwelling house owned by the Gorman brothers in North Lexington. The fire was in the second story of the part occupied by Charles J. Johnson. Cause of fire is unknown, but is probably due to mice and matches. The fire started in a bureau, which was a total loss. It also ruined a carpet and burned some jewelry valued at $300. The loss to the building is estimated at $500 and to the furniture and clothing $200, all of which are fully insured. The fire department responded quickly to the alarm, although there seemed to be some question as to which box it was, for the whistle blew 46 the first round and 56 the second. Both the Lexington and the Lexington departments made good time.

MT. WASHINGTON AS VIEWED FROM THE STEAMER ON LAKE WINNIPESAUKEE.

On the large and stately steamer Mt. Washington, which traverses Lake Winnepesaukee for a distance of over sixty miles, one can get a magnificent view of Mt. Washington and the surrounding mountains, and September is the ideal month to visit this region.

On September 7th a special train via the Boston & Maine railroad will leave the Union station at 8:20 a.m., for Alton Bay, connecting there with the steamer. Tickets are now on sale at the city ticket office, 322 Washington street, at a rate of $2.00 for the round trip. As the supply of tickets is positively limited, they should be secured in advance.

LEXINGTON LOCALS.

E. F. Pobes' beautiful new residence on Chandler street is ready for the plaster.

Miss Mabel E. Jackson returned Monday after a pleasant two weeks' vacation at Annisquam.

Mrs. William A. Jackson and family have gone to Brockton on a week's visit at her sister's home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Brown and family returned Saturday. They have been passing the summer at South Duxbury.

Irving B. Pierce is back from a vacation at Saco.

Garth Batchelder and Irving Pierce, of the Lexington drum corps, turned out with a Boston drum corps, Labor Day.

Chief Franks arrested Edward J. Kerbey for drunkenness Monday. His case was heard in court Tuesday, and he was put on probation for three months.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Hutchinson, who have been at Kearsarge Village, N. H., returned last Saturday.

The conductors and motormen on the Lexington & Boston R. R. had a long day Monday. There was so much traffic that the conductors had to help, they had no time to stop for their meals.

There were a few men who worked from eighteen to twenty hours with no chance for a short rest.

J. A. MacMaster, representing the International Monthly, was in town Tuesday, and secured a few subscribers.

Dr. John Kane, of Keeley institute, is at the Carney hospital, Boston, suffering from a type of typhoid fever.

Edward Hunewell, John Tholdeen, John Ready and a few friends spent Saturday night and Sunday on the Concord river, fishing. They had good luck.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Farrington have returned from Portland, Me., after a two weeks' outing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Perkins are back from a short vacation at Point Elizabeth, Me.

Mrs. Geo. Mitchell, of Braintree, has been visiting her son, A. Mitchell, of Bedford.

Frank J. Garrison is ill with diphtheria. At last reports he was improving rapidly.

The family of Dr. Edward Briggs returned on Wednesday from Oxford Springs, Me., to their Lexington home on Pelham road. Dr. Briggs himself is still abroad traveling in Italy, but will be home about the 20th inst.

At the Concord court, Wednesday, Jane Dinal was found guilty of breaking and entering the house of Abraham B. Borden, of Woburn street, and of assaulting Mrs. Borden Judge Keyes put her under probation for eight months and warned her to keep away from the Borden house. It appears that some few days ago Mrs. Dinal went to the Borden house, but found no one at home. Instead of leaving, she broke in at the back door, and when Mrs. Mary A. Borden returned, she found the woman making herself at home. Mrs. Borden asked the woman what she wanted, but received no reply except that she had a perfect right to come there as often as she wished. When told to leave the house, she objected and expressed her intention of remaining, threatening to assault Mrs. Borden. Mr. and Mrs. Borden later made a complaint to Chief Franks, who arrested the woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lloyd Garrison, who spent last winter in Lexington, with their son, Charles Garrison, returned from their European trip on the Ivernia on Wednesday, going to their Brookline home. Many Lexington friends regret that they are not to be here this coming winter.

Charles Kettel, of Highland street, Cambridge, who with his family have spent the summer in the Thoron cottage, are so charmed with Lexington that they have leased the house of Mr. Janvin, on Mt. Vernon street, and will remain here, probably building a home here later.

Francis J. Garrison, of Pelham road, is rapidly recovering from his attack of diphtheria, under the care of Dr. Percy, of Arlington.

The family of Charles Garrison returned from their summer outing in Maine on Wednesday and are comfortably settled in their home again.

The macadamizing of Massachusetts avenue has progressed as far east as Pleasant street, East Lexington, and is proceeding slowly towards the Arlington line. But, alas, it is to be partly torn up again to permit the burying of the water pipes. It seems as if we were never to have good roads after all, some digging up being always in progress. Soon the sewer will have to be laid.

C. E. Dale and family, of Hancock street, have returned from North Scituate, where they have been spending the summer.

Miss Clara Harrington returned from Green Harbor, Mass., Wednesday.

H. V. Smith is back once more with a coat of arms which he got in the mountains of Peru, N. H.

George Wilson, the ice man, lost another horse, Sunday. He seems to be unfortunate with his horses, having lost one last week.

Allen Smith, one of Lexington's promising young men, leaves town Sunday for Dartmouth college. He and Clifford Pierce, of East Lexington, are to room together.

Frank Barlow, one of our noted bicycle riders, raced at Charles River park, Labor day. He was thrown from his wheel but was not seriously injured.

Ted Worthen is back from a two weeks' outing at Winthrop beach.

Charles G. Fletcher, Carrie Fletcher Dow, Mrs. S. B. Whiting and C. A. Staples attended the reunion of the Fletcher family at Tremont temple, Wednesday.

Joe Britton has gone to the Massachusetts General hospital to have an operation for appendicitis. At last reports he was getting on nicely.

Charles Nourse and James Keefe left town today for Fryeburg, Me., on a ten days' vacation.

Mrs. Ellen Lane, of Parker street, returned Wednesday from a pleasant two weeks' vacation at Exeter, where she enjoyed trip both ways on the electric.

Clifford Saville, assistant postmaster, is receiving subscriptions at the post-office for the International Monthly.

Among the visitors at the Leslie house, the past week, are: Mrs. J. W. Falconer, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. C. L. Cowan, Albany, N. Y.; Mrs. C. C. Vanderbilt, New York city; Dr. H. Tuohelo and family, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Clara M. St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. Ernest Jonas, Berlin, Germany.

Mrs. Abbie E. Butcher, wife of James E. Butcher, who was killed by the electric, has opened a restaurant in the postoffice block.

Amy Morse and Gladys Vickery have returned to the Lexington high school to take a post-graduate course.

Willard H. McPhee and Miss Elizabeth Dalrymple, both of Lexington, were married Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. A. Staples.

There will be a meeting of Simon W. Robinson Lodge, F. & A. M., Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Division 34, A. O. U. E., initiated three new members Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Reed and family, of Massachusetts avenue, have returned from their outing at Rangeley lakes.

C. P. Morse is suffering with a severe attack of hay fever.

Dr. H. L. Alderman's horse, "Young Clon," won first money in the race at record, last or day.

Dr. Bolls, of Virginia, is taking Dr. Kane's place at the Keeley institute.

H. A. Woodward and family returned, Monday, from New Bedford, where they have been visiting relatives.

E. C. Briggs, of Pelham road, returned Wednesday from Oxford, Me.

C. P. Briggs, in company with the Harpans, are expected home today from West Mt. Vernon, Me.

Arthur L. Fletcher, of Chelsea, formerly of Lexington, is the happy father of a daughter.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH.

The Sunday school at the church opens tomorrow, Sept. 8, at 12 o'clock. All members are requested to be present if possible, in order to register for the season.

Rev. Carleton A. Staples will occupy the pulpit tomorrow at the Unitarian church. Rev. C. H. Parker will address the Young People's guild meeting at 7 o'clock.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. Charles F. Carter will preach tomorrow morning at the Hancock Congregational church.

East Lexington.

Orrin Pierce has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Harrison Pierce. The Middlesex Gun club held a shoot Labor day at the clubhouse, near the lower end of the meadow.

Peter McDonald, who has been assisting his brother at the L. & B. waiting room at Lexington Heights, is again in the employ of the electric road as motorman on the Burlington branch.

The firemen from the village were somewhat handicapped in answering the alarm from box 56, last Sunday evening, in account of the failure of the church bell and the house tapers, none of which were in running order. Driver Harrington and Officer Foster were in front of the engine house when the alarm came in and were able to reach the fire in the center. This prevented any great delay and the chemical made the run in quick order.

The open season for game in this vicinity began the first of this month and the sound coming from the direction of the Great Meadows early Monday morning gave evidence that the local sportsmen were taking advantage of their early opportunities.

David C. Smith, who is in the employ of A. J. Wilkins & Co., of Boston, is enjoying his annual vacation.

Garth Batchelder manipulated the bass drum in the Labor day parade at Boston on Monday.

Rhoades Lockwood and family have been located for a couple of weeks at the Poland Springs hotel, Poland Springs, Me. They returned to Lexington Tuesday.

Miss Zilpah Withrow who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Anna M. Lawrence, has returned to her home at Attleboro.

Officer W. B. Foster has been enjoying a few days' vacation.

Miss Georgietta Bacon left Wednesday for Marion, Mass.

Miss Fannie Kauffmann left Monday to resume her duties as instructor of music in the school at Hyannis.

The work of burying the wires on Massachusetts avenue is progressing rapidly. It is rather discouraging to see this thoroughfare again in a state of upheaval after waiting so long for it to be put in a satisfactory condition, but the work will soon be finished and the telephone company is doing everything possible to leave the roadbed in as good condition as they could manage.

When it is put back into the trench, is thoroughly puddled and tamped, the macadam is screened and replaced, and the steam roller, which the whole so that everything is left in first-class shape. The conduit will have space for four cables, which will be amply sufficient to carry all wires for some years to come.

Clifford W. Pierce, Chester M. Lawrence and Clarence Hambley leave for Dartmouth, the first of the week.

Owing to the danger from the diphtheria, the school in the building next to the schoolhouse it was deemed unwise to open the Adams school Tuesday morning. The scholars are thus enjoying an extra week's vacation.

FOLLEN CHURCH.

Follen church opened last Sunday with the regular morning service at 10:45 o'clock, followed by Sunday school at noon. Rev. L. D. Cochrane delivered a very interesting sermon, Sunday evening, from these words: "What I have written I have written," taken from John 19: 22.

The Sunday school meets every Sunday in Village hall, at 3 p.m.; evening service at 7.

The Ladies' Aid society held its first meeting this week, at Mrs. M. A. Page, and it was voted to have a supper in Emerson hall, Sept. 26.

BAPTIST SOCIETY.

C. D. Easton was given a very hearty reception by the members of the Baptist society on his return. He preached a very interesting sermon Sunday evening, from these words: "What I have written I have written," taken from John 19: 22.

The Sunday school meets every Sunday in Village hall, at 3 p.m.; evening service at 7.

The Ladies' Aid society held its first meeting this week, at Mrs. M. A. Page, and it was voted to have a supper in Emerson hall, Sept. 26.

North Lexington.

Miss Alice Valentine, of Medford Hillside, is visiting at the house of C. E. Wheeler.

Some of the residents of this section of the town have entered a complaint with the state board of health asking that the nuisance caused by the unloading of the cars filled with manure near the station be abated. The local board of health has taken no visible steps to stop the trouble, and the state board has been sought as a last resort.

Several improvements and the erection of a large new chimney is the recent work being accomplished at the premises of Norris Comley.

Charles Smith has moved back into the house recently vacated by E. L. French.

Conductor James Miller and family have moved here from East Lexington.

HOW TO VISIT BUFFALO IN TWO DAYS.

In these days of rapid transit and travel it is possible to travel a considerable distance in a very short time, and to the people who would like to visit the Pan-American exposition, but cannot afford the leisure, the Boston & Maine railroad offers a route whereby a person may visit Buffalo and enjoy the Pan-American exposition at a loss of only two days.

By leaving Boston on the 6:15 at night, arriving in Buffalo early the next morning, the day may be spent in visiting the fair, leaving Buffalo on the evening of the second day, arriving in Boston early the next morning.

The trains via this route are equipped with the latest and most up-to-date sleeping cars.

The rates are very low, and the scenery through Western Massachusetts and Eastern New York is unsurpassed.

Send to the Passenger Department, Boston & Maine railroad, Boston, for Pan-American book entitled "Picturesque Routes to the Pan-American."

MONEY EARNS FROM 25 TO 500 PER CENT.

Eastern people who wish to make big money on their investments should deal with the companies direct. We handle mines and mining stock; oil lands and oil stocks. You save the middleman's profit by dealing direct with us. Address C. F. Newcomb, Broker, Spokane, Wash.

WANTED—Four or five gentlemen or ladies to demonstrate shoe polish. Salary, $10 to $12 week and expenses. Address S. G. F., Lexington.

SCENE OF FIRST BATTLE.

Noted Vermont Visits Lexington and Concord — Says the Former Holds the Honor.

Col. Everett C. Benton, of Waverley, and Walter E. Ranger, state supervisor of the board of education for the state of Vermont, visited Lexington Labor Day. Mr. Ranger came for the purpose of viewing the historic places in both Lexington and Concord to satisfy himself as to which town may justly claim the honor of the first forcible resistance to British forces. After viewing the several monuments and inscriptions, he decided that Lexington instead of Concord was the place.

JUST A LITTLE POLITICS.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

Following is the Democratic state convention call:

The Democratic voters of Massachusetts and all others who intend to support the Democratic candidates are requested to elect delegates to a state convention to be held in Boston theatre, Boston, on Thursday, Oct. 3, 1901, at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, auditor, treasurer and receiver general and secretary, to be voted for Nov. 5, 1901.

The basis of representation has been fixed by the Democratic state committee at one delegate-at-large for each town and each ward of a city, and one additional delegate for each 100 votes or major fractional part thereof cast in the year 1900 for Democratic electors of president of the United States.

Each delegate must be provided with an official credential card, and admission to an convention will be by these credentials only. Thereafter tickets will be issued at the meeting place of Democratic state committee before the assembling of the convention, in exchange for credentials.

The Democrats of Massachusetts are hereby requested to meet in their respective districts, upon Thursday, Sept. 26, 1901, for the purpose of choosing candidates for the general court, and in Suffolk senatorial districts candidates for the senate and delegates to the Democratic state, councilor, county, district attorney, senatorial (except in Suffolk senatorial districts) and representative conventions of 1901. The basis of representation to all conventions will be as above designated.

All caucuses must be called and held in accordance with chapter 548, of the acts of 1888, and the acts in amendment thereof, Democratic state committee.

William S. McNary, President.
Stephen M. Walsh, Secretary.
Boston, Sept. 3, 1901.

THE HOT WAVE'S HAVOC.

Exhausted Humanity Turning to the Mountains and Seashore this Season as Never Before.

The oft-quoted "oldest inhabitant" scarcely remembers a summer during which humanity endured such discomforts as those which have been our common lot during the recent hot spell.

To the people who dwell in cities the experience has been an almost unbearable one, and mid-August this year probably marks the greater percentage of physical and mental exhaustion among the people of the United States than any previous year in the country's history has witnessed.

Even those who take a mistaken pride in the fact that they "never need a vacation" have been obliged to tear themselves away from business duties for a few days, for there is a limit to the endurance of even the most inveterate devotee of work.

In view of this widespread havoc by the hot wave, therefore, it would not be strange if August and September at the seashore and mountain and lake resorts of New England should be marked by a high tide of vacation travel. Every indication points that way now, at any rate, and the thousands which are hourly leaving the Union station in Boston for the various sections of America's great summer playground show that the "exodus" is already in progress.

Reports from the different mountain resorts show that the big army of rest-seekers who prefer these breezy

THE UNTRUTHFUL DAISY.

She wandered where the daisies grew;
Her lips were red; her eyes were blue;
She plucked a daisy from its bed
And broke each petal as she said:

"He loves me, he loves me not;
He loves me, he loves me not;
He loves me, Daisy, tell me so."
The final petal answered "No."

She laughed, but one small tear drop bold Spread secrets of the heart untold.
"He loves me not," she tossed her head.
"Why, daisy, you tell lies!" she said.

—New York Sun.

Forcing a Fortune

A STORY OF GOLD SEEKERS.

The tent was like a brazier for heat. Outside, the sun from its western position might be judged setting, but looked to be hung permanently copper red in the sky, and a little wind blew gusts like hot needles in the face of the man who strode up and down, up and down, past the flap of the tent. So striding with bent shoulders and working himself into a kind of reasonable fury, regardless of the heat, John Rubythron might have been still lecturing on the thing in itself to a university extension audience rather than standing on the brim of a goldfield not yet prospected and being informed that he must turn back if he had any desire to reach civilization with his life. He was furious at the necessity of turning back, at his partners for speaking of it as a necessity.

"Do you mean to say that you're going to give up all our chances and skulk back?"

One of the men he addressed, Saqui, a half breed, coiled round in the shadow of the tent like a snake, made no answer except to glitter with his eyes, as though the heat were too great for words. The other, an average lean American, spoke out of a ring of tobacco smoke, curtly enough:

"Five days' ride, if the horses kin do it." "Why shouldn't they?" asked Rubythron.

"An we're vittled for three. There ain't any game in this country right along to Rosario."

"Always want to be eating," said Rubythron.

"Ever tried more'n 48 hours' empty stomach?" retorted the American amiably. "No, I guess not, Philosopher! You're noo, an you've got grit, but the gold'll lie, if it's that. We can't get it if we're bones."

"I'm not going to leave it," said Rubythron sulkily.

"Waal, it's a nice dry country for a cemet-urry. Guess I'm going to ride at dawn. There'll be a breath of air before the sun's up."

The half breed grunted assent.

"Very well," said Rubythron; "I'm going to stay."

The others talked of the Philosopher being gold hungry without disturbing themselves. But it was not gold hunger that decided John Rubythron. He was one of those misers, a theorist on his beam ends, a man born to walk in the unproductive ways of mild intellectual exertion, thrown suddenly on his own resources, stung by the need of money, stung especially by a hitherto unknown doubt (for he had had a good opinion of himself all his days) as to whether he possessed practical ability, such as forces fortune to be kind. He had sailed to the new world in order to prove himself and to show to those candid friends who had shaken their heads over him that he could make his fortune as well as any man.

It was just ten days since he had met Saqui and the American under the orange trees outside Don Jose's small hostelry in Rosario. They were down on their luck, the others, and it had occurred to the American that it was time to test a report he had once heard of rich gold veins somewhere out the other side of the mountains. Rubythron had leaped at the proposal and offered to invest all that was left to him. Saqui came in with a lazy grin. They had bought their tackle, provisioned for a fortnight and started. They had traveled five days through a barren country, and for five they had been camped in this same untrodden past, going round looking for a vein. The ground was promising enough; so the others said, and Rubythron, who knew nothing of the gold digging ways, never lost heart. That would have been to acknowledge himself a weaker vessel. At least he could show these old hands what perseverance was. And now—now they had declared that they must give up the search, slink away to feed themselves, retrace their steps when they were on the very brink of gold.

John Rubythron would not go back. He strode up and down in the imminent heat while they snored, and when they woke in the first coolness of the dawn he was still striding, full of his dreams. He watched their brief preparations for departure scornfully, unconscious of their solicitude.

"Luck and a good meal," he said when they were mounted for the start. The American looked him down.

"If I thought you were touched by the sun," he remarked.

He rode off slowly, followed by his companion, and Rubythron was left alone. He looked at them until they grew faint in the rising heat mist and then returned to the tent. The sun was already up, and the philosopher, having passed a sleepless night and made a hurried breakfast, went out into it. He meant to try the fast drying water courses that lay near to the tent. They had prospected too far afield before, he thought. Probably the gold, dust and even nuggets lay closer. All that day he spaded and washed vigorously, forgetting to take a meal or any shelter from the sun. At sundown he stopped what had been a fruitless labor, and a slight drowsiness assailed him. Would it be wiser, he wondered, to take the American's advice and ride off in the morning? He could not try any considerable operations single handed and this washing made for exhaustion. He fell asleep undecided and slept until the sun was high up. A kind of exultation possessed him when he awoke, so that he laughed at himself for having felt a moment of weakness. The food he had would last a week at least. He felt almost as if he could live on air, as if he were compounded of some finer stuff than ordinary mortals, something indefatigable and made for success. He went out again to his work.

It seemed to John Rubythron less a miracle than the outcome of his purpose that on this day he should find what he looked for. At the first washing it came—the yellow dust, and though he had desired it so greatly and so vainly, it came to him without surprise. The gold represented fortune conquered, and he had the self possession of the victor. Only, as he recollected, he must gather it in fast, for he must ride away before his food supplies gave out. He washed and more came—dust and nuggets—wherever he had dipped or dug. Any one present would have wondered that a man could keep moving so incessantly in that great heat. But John Rubythron was not conscious of it. The sun was only a great light pointing him to fresh finds. At sundown on that day he gave up work and collapsed a little in the tent and fell asleep while he was watching the litter of stuff that now almost hid the floor of the tent. The air was burning hot, and John Rubythron began to dream uneasily.

It must have been a delirium into which he passed, for through his multifarious imaginings ran the same thread of vague terror that holds delirious men. Always he was alone and impotent; always the world circled about him with a desolating regularity. No bodily ill, it seemed, befell him, but only a foreknowledge of intolerable things. Horrors of yellow compassed him.

He was a fly imprisoned in amber for a billion years. Through it, as through a casement, he looked without heeding upon a yellow earth. The glutinous stuff deafened him, froze the warm blood of his veins, hardened about his lips, so that his throat was full of choking. Only in the vacant chambers of his brain, which never stopped thinking, thinking, thinking, he knew that escape was possible. For other flies were bound with him, the unregarding companions of his fate, insistent sleeping things, who, if he could but make them hear, would by force of their beating wings effect a deliverance. He could not speak or turn. Once he half moved his neck and the gum retrose about him. In that moment as he foresaw the agony of an eternal cramp, without warning the amber broke. Splinters of it flew like yellow diamonds through the sunlight, and those others, the drowsed, who had known nothing of his pain, spread joyful wings and flew away into the summer.

But he—the stickiness not yet dried from his body—fell fluttering into the innumerable meshes of a spider's web. Between tall sunflowers that stared open-eyed at the sun the web was stretched. Butterflies from their shells, bronze and gold, like coins from the minting, shot into currency. And then in that fair place he became aware of the spider, a barrel of yellow fat rolling toward him. It would stab him, it would draw his blood with the lances of its hairy legs, its bloated body would expand with his life. In the keenness of his fear he burst its web, which fell, delicately dislocated, and swung to and fro by a single thread. The gross beast itself, its eyes bulging indignation, was running madly down the corridors it had devised, spinning fresh mazes as it ran.

John Rubythron dreamed, and it was autumn. He drooped from a tree, a leaf among other leaves, all yellow and shriveled, for they had forgot the spring and the glory of being green. Westward, low on the horizon, the sun set in sickly orange, and he knew in his heart that when it was gone a little wind would come up out of the east and beat him down on the moldering earth. Already other leaves were falling wearily and swine nosed among them. But he feared too much to fall. What resurrection would there be or what new noddings and whisperings in the springtime when the warm winds should blow again to quicken the forests? Out of the marshes a dun dog crept, like an invader, silently.

Now the delirium drove him, human in body as in soul once more, over great tracks of earth in the very strangest company of men made of wax with whom, by reason of their peculiar substance or because they were enveloped in great volumes of smoke, he could not become familiar. They wandered together and not together, and at last they stood all massed in a great desert of yellow sand, and a storm rose. The sand was churned up like foam on a shallow sea, billows of it rolled against them, pits yawned in front and behind. In that terror he could not address these men of wax, for somehow he knew that if he called to them they would melt away, and he would be alone in body as he was alone in spirit. Yet he called out.

John Rubythron woke to consciousness to find the companions who had ridden off and left him back in the tent. They were real, not made of wax, and there were others, too, who were also real.

"What's up?" he asked in a voice that he could scarcely hear. The American, who sat smoking near him, bent forward.

"Sit quiet," he said soothingly. "Too much sun on an empty stomach that's flattened you some."

"But—" argued John Rubythron.

The other went on talking to keep him still. He and Saqui, it seemed, had fallen in with some other prospectors who were well stocked with provisions and had agreed to show them the road.

Suddenly Rubythron recollected himself. "But I found the gold," he said. "You know that? It's littered about." He tried to sit up and look, but his strength failed. One or two of the other men had come forward at hearing of gold.

"What is it?" asked one.

"All about," said the American.

"An what's the muck on the floor?"

"That's it, I guess," said the American.

"He got sun touched and went round picking up most anything he could lay hands on. Comes of thinking and empty stomach. Knew another man like that."

John Rubythron lifted up his head again. "It's all there, isn't it?"

"Every dollar," said his friend assuringly.

"Because if I don't get better I'd like a check sent to an address. You'll find it. You chaps can share. But I'd like her to know—not a waster—I said it—you can force luck—they said I was."

He began to wander again, fulfilling his purposes in his delirium. Awake, he had not found it so easy to force fortune. But there are many ways of doing it. Here, for instance, in one corner of the tent lay a sick man, and on the floor of it much dust and rubble turned into gold by his sickness.—Black and White.

Municipal Amenities.

A member of the Isle of Wight board of guardians thus answered a colleague from whom he had received what he took to be an insult: "I am not a bigger fool than you are, and I do not care here to be made a target for a censorious, cantankerous, scurrilous, insolent and illiterate cad from a Ventnor stable. Mr. Chairman, if you will allow him to turn upon me the rapier of insult I shall plunge into him the dagger of sarcasm, and it will not be my fault if it does not go to the hilt!"—St. James Gazette.

CALL 'EM UP.

Telephone Directory of Live Business Houses, Which Advertise in the Enterprise.

Below will be found a list of the Enterprise advertisers whose places of business or residences have a telephone connection. The list is published for the convenience of Enterprise readers, who may desire to communicate with these establishments.

Lucius A. Austin, Lexington 14-3.
Arlington House, Arlington 156-2.
Arlington Insurance Agency, Arl. 303-5.
Belmont Coal Co., Arl. 36-3.
A. L. Bacon, 133-3.
Henry W. Beal, Arl. 141-3; Boston office, Main 1686.

A. E. Cotton, Arl. 238-4.
David Clark, Arl. 89-3.
Charles Gott, Arl. 28-3; house, Arl. 38-2.
C. H. Gannett, Main 356-3.

N. J. Hardy, Arl. 8-2; house, Arl. 112-2.
James O. Holt, grocer, Arl. 137-2.
James O. Holt, provision dealer, Arl. 337-2.

H. K. Hutchinson, Arl. 339-3; Heights branch, Arl. 321-5; house, Arl. 329-3.
J. Henry Hartwell, Arl. 127-4; house, Arl. 104-4.

H. B. Johnson, Arl. 134-2.
Wood Bros. Express, Arl. 122-3.
Litchfield's Studio, 307-2.
George A. Law, Arl. 73-3.

Lexington Lumber Co., Lex. 43.
John J. Leary, Arl. 37-2.
R. W. Le Baron, Arl. 79-2.

Lexington Grain Mills, Lex. 34-3; house, 31-3.
A. S. Mitchell, Main 1509.

Perham's Pharmacy, 115-3; pay station, 21, 350; house, 329-6.
W. W. Robertson, Arl. 138-4.

E. Price, Arl. 82-4.
Peirce & Winn, Arl. 1-2.

Dr. Ring's Sanatorium, Arl. 205-2.
W. W. Rawson, Arl. 16-3; house, Arl. 15-2; Boston office, Main 346.

George W. Sampson, Lex. 24-2; house, Lex. 61-7.

C. H. Stone, Arl. 131-4.
P. W. Schwamb & Bro., Arl. 111-3.

Simpson Bros., Main 1155.
H. T. Welch & Son, pay station, 21353.

Wood Bros. Express, Arl. 242-7.
John G. Waage, Arl. 149-4.

C. T. West, undertaker, Lex. 28-4; house, 31-2.

Wetherbee Bros., Arl. 149-8.

"It's Cheaper to Move than Pay Rent."

We move you out or move you in, just which way you happen to be going and guarantee you just as good a job as if you were always moving.

Piano and Furniture Moving.
Storage room for Furniture, Stoves, etc.

We make two trips to Boston daily, first at 8.30. First team due from Boston at 1.30.

Boston Offices—36 Court St., 48 Chatham St., 17 Kingston St., order box, Faneuil Hall Sq.

Arlington Office—Cushing's Store at Heights Town Hall, corner Henderson Street, and McDowell's store.

WOOD BROS. EXPRESS
Residence at 677 Mass. avenue.
ARLINGTON.

Have Your Horses Shod

AT Mill Street Shoeing Forge,

26 Mill Street,
ARLINGTON.

Special attention paid to Over-reaching and Interfering Horses.

Horses Shod by experienced workmen.

First-class work guaranteed. Horses called for and delivered.

CALL AT THE Mystic Street Waiting-Room

FOR A Quick Lunch.

Confectionery,
Tobacco, Cigars, etc.

A. O. SPRAGUE

ARLINGTON.

F. R. DANIELS,

606 Mass. Avenue, Arlington.

Hats, Caps,
Gentlemen's

Furnishing Goods,
Periodicals,

Cigars & Tobacco.

For Candies, Fruit, Cold Sodas,

with pure juices, and a GOOD DINNER

Visit Callaghan's Lunch Room

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

CURTIN'S

Arlington Express

Boston Office, 128 State Street.

Telephone, 1185, Main.

J. J. TOOMEY,

Fashionable Hairdresser.

Pompadour and Children's Hair-cutting a Specialty. Razors Honed and Reshaped.

HUNT BLOCK, MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE

ALEXANDER BEATON,

Contractor and Builder

PARK AVENUE,
Arlington Heights.

J. J. LOFTUS,

Custom Tailor.

SPRING STYLES.
Ladies' and Gent's Clothing Cleaned, Dyed, Repaired and Pressed Neatly.

612 MASS. AVENUE, ARLINGTON.

WOMAN AS A TRAVELER.

Fussy Before the Start, but After That She Sets Man an Example.

Are women good travelers? If one believes the average man, they are not; if one believes his own sight, they are far better even than the detractors who criticize them with so high and mighty an air.

It is perfectly true that the average female cannot make out a time table whether the 2:40 train arrives at her town at 6 a. m. or 7 p. m. It is true, says the Baltimore News, that she reaches the station a good half hour before she should and spends the interim trying to find the baggage room and making false starts through the gate to board trains bound in diametrically opposite directions to the one in which she is going—impulses which are generally checked by the uniformed employee of the road.

But once in a coach which she is assured is the proper one the average woman shows her adaptability by settling down quietly in her seat and preparing to pass the time as pleasantly as possible. She doesn't tramp up and down the aisle continually; she doesn't of course spend every alternate ten minutes in the smoking room; she does not complain to the porter of the roadbed, nor to the train-boy of the few magazines and papers that he sells.

A man, his wife and two children entered a day coach in which the writer sat recently and gave an apt illustration of the difference in the way the sexes travel. The man as soon as he had seated his charges washed his hands of responsibility and bolted for the smoking car. The woman set to work quietly to amuse the little ones and keep them quiet. She whispered a story to them; she pinned a handkerchief out of the window and made a flag of it; she made balls of another handkerchief and rabbits, and so kept those babies quieted and contented for six hours. At the end of that time back came the husband breathless.

"Are you ready to get off?" he asked. "Here we are at Baltimore. It's been a terrible trip, hasn't it? So hot. I'm tired to death."

"I rather enjoyed it," replied the woman. "Was it warm? You see, I was too busy to notice. Yes, everything is ready. I'm sorry you're tired." And there wasn't even a trace of sarcasm in her tones.

Overloaded With Accomplishments.

The insane desire of fond parents that their children shall "shine" in their studies and accomplishments is one topic vigorously dealt with by Edward Bok in his editorial in The Ladies' Home Journal. Regarding the girls' side of this widespread evil, he says: "There are parents who, not content with the studies which their daughters have to grapple with at school, load them down with a few special studies in the finer arts. I have in mind now several young girls between the precarious ages of 12 and 17, who, after they return from school, have an extra dose of painting, music or languages. 'But my daughter must know something of these things,' is the protest of the fond mother. 'She must be able to hold her own with other girls of her set.' Of course the girl at this tender age, with such a mental load, soon goes to pieces. She becomes anemic, listless and nervous, and then the mother wonders why. To build her up everything under the sun is tried, except a lessening of mental work and the unnatural strain upon the nervous system. The girl develops into what? A bundle of nerves incased in the most fragile frame, her physical vitality sapped almost to the last drop. And in this condition she enters the marriage state! And yet we wonder why there are so few women absolutely free from organic troubles. Is it so inexplicable?"

How We Bore Each Other.

Our own affairs are of such paramount importance to ourselves that it is hard for any of us to realize with what complete indifference we are regarded by others and how uninteresting we really are to the world at large. Taking our hearers' sympathy for granted (which, by the way, is an unselfish interest in others rarely deserved), we will talk of our family, our ailments and our belongings ad nauseam usque and exhaust the patience of our friends, who, in their turn, are only interested in what concerns themselves.

"Poor Dick," said one of his relatives, speaking of a man who through his own excesses was afflicted with a long and hopeless illness. "It is pathetic to see the importance that he assumes his symptoms are to us. Every day he will detail them to his visitors, who can only feel how much better it would be for every one if his poor, wasted life would come to an end. Happily he never suspects this, but imagines that we feel all the interest we try to show."

White Lies.

One would hardly dare to ask a friend to dine in so many words, says a writer in The Spectator, if it were not permissible for him to make the false reply that he was sorry he was engaged and could not come.

Ordinary social intercourse, instead of becoming more direct, would have to be carried on by an elaborate system of hints; otherwise society would become, metaphorically speaking, a bear garden, in which sensitive persons would be battered to death. It would be impossible to get used to being told "I do not like you, and your friends bore me," or "I could come quite easily, but I do not care to identify myself with the very second rate people among whom you live."

Neither could we improve matters by reversing the ordinary procedure and allowing the guests to invite themselves. The rebuff of being refused hospitality would be almost unbearable.

A Favored Shop.

An old west end firm in London, Howell & James, which was founded in 1760 and is now going out of existence, recalls some interesting traditions. King George III and his daughters, it seems, were patrons of the shop and delighted in shopping for themselves after the fashion of many ordinary people. The firm would be notified in advance of the royal visit. The shop would then be closed to the outside world and the royal party take possession. The king was an enthusiastic shopper, and the princesses had more fun out of their part in it than the average woman, for they wandered around the shop, opening boxes and drawers to find their own treasures. This is a shop of which Queen Victoria was a regular patron, and one of the most treasured traditions of the place is that it was the only shop she had ever entered.

COLONEL PARSONS' GREAT RIDE.

The Feat Was Such That General Meade Would Not Believe It.

Colonel E. Bloss Parsons of New York was brevetted general for distinguished service during the war, but characteristic modesty forbade the use of that title when he returned to civilian life. Not only did he perform the only authentic feat of decapitation during the civil war, but he was the hero of a remarkable ride. A few days before the battle of Gettysburg was fought General Meade had an important message to send to General Harding, 100 miles distant. As the route was through a country swarming with rebels, the message was written on tissue paper, that it might be swallowed in case the carrier was captured. The commander was in doubt regarding a suitable messenger. He summoned General Davis to headquarters.

"General, who is the hardest rider as well as the most trustworthy man in the service?" asked Meade.

"Colonel Parsons, sir," was the prompt reply.

"Send him to me at once."

It was 6 o'clock on a Monday night when General Meade gave the young officer his instructions. He was to ride with all haste to General Harding's headquarters and return at once with an answer.

The messenger retired. Two hundred miles were to be covered. The roads were heavy, and they led through the enemy's country.

Exactly at noon the following day Colonel Parsons entered General Meade's tent. The latter's face grew purple with rage, and he ripped out a string of oaths.

"Is this the way you obey orders?" he thundered. "What are you hanging around camp for? You ought to be with General Harding by this time."

"I have just returned from General Harding, sir."

"You lie!" exclaimed the exasperated general.

Parson's face paled, and he dug the nails into his hands to restrain himself. "General Meade," he said in a voice that he scarcely heard, "if you were not my commanding officer, I would knock you down for that insult."

Without the formality of a salute, he turned on his heel and left the tent. Meade afterward made an ample apology.

Colonel Parsons killed two horses and went himself without a particle of food. For 18 hours he was not out of the saddle.—Bangor Commercial.

ANIMAL LIFE.

A good camel will travel 100 miles a day for ten days through the desert.

The lobster is his own most deadly enemy. The young ones scorn all other food when they have a chance to eat one another.

The stupid policy of hunters in South Africa has led to the almost total destruction of a host of wild animals, the quagga among them.

Dragon fly grubs are most destructive to the fry of fish. Out of 50,000 turned into a pond one April only 54 could be found the following September. The pond was infested by dragon fly.

Bees are known to be excellent weather prophets. There is a common country saying that "a bee was never caught in a shower." When rain is coming, bees do not go far afield, but buzz close to their hives.

A falcon which strayed from Fontainebleau, near Paris, in pursuit of some other bird, was found next day at Malta, in the Mediterranean. Another falcon is said to have returned from Andalusia, Spain, to the peak of Tenerife in six hours.

When taken young, the hedgehog may be completely tamed and made familiar, allowing itself to be handled and associating with the dog and cat upon terms of perfect concord. It feeds indifferently upon bread and milk, meat, etc., and keeps up a regular nocturnal chase after insects.

All Wives or Widows.

"When a girl is born in India," relates a woman missionary, "the first question asked is, Whom shall she marry? Every high caste girl must be wedded at 12 and to a man of her caste and her horoscope. He may be comparatively young, middle aged or old, immoral, diseased or brutal. It makes no difference, if his caste and horoscope agree with hers. A woman in India is perfectly helpless."

"She is generally married at 8 or 9, but does not become a member of her husband's family until she is 12. If it should chance that her husband die before that time, she becomes a child widow, the most despised of creatures. A curse is believed to be upon her, and if she goes the ordinary course she commits suicide in desperation. There are 72,000 child widows under 9 years of age in India. There is no wooing or being won in India. Every girl over 12 is wife or widow."

The Indigestion of Loneliness.

At a time like the present, when the marrying age of the average man of the middle classes is being more and more postponed, the physical ills of bachelorhood come increasingly under the notice of the medical man, says the London Lancet. The experience of countless generations, from the red Indian of the woods to the white shirted diners of a modern party, has perpetuated the lesson that a man should not eat alone or think much at this time, but should talk and be talked to while he feeds.

Antiquity of Tin.

We find that brass, and consequently tin,

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

The Story of a Pin.

I was once a little piece of steel in a mine, where I lived with my numerous brothers and sisters. One morning a number of men brought a huge machine to the mine and fastened it so well that our home was blown to pieces. The next thing that I remember was when I was put into a smelting oven, from which I emerged a little piece of unshaped metal. I was then sent to a pin factory, where I was put into a form and came out of the form a small piece of wire which was shaped into a "pin." I felt very proud indeed when my brothers and myself were placed in papers, just like rows of orderly soldiers. We were then packed in a box and shipped to a notion store, where we were unpacked and placed in a glass case. We felt very proud, indeed, when we first arrived, but when we saw the gigantic, stately hatpins, the beautiful, proud glass headed pins and the herculean safety pins all gazing at us with scornful contempt we felt very humble indeed, and, though we tried to assuage the anger of these royal classes of pins, they never would condescend to answer our vain apologies. I was at length taken out of this embarrassing position by the careless hand of the clerk, who handed me to a lady who had bought me. She took me to her home and stuck my brothers and myself in a cushion. Next morning the housemaid threw me into the ash barrel, where I now lie, unnoticed and uncared for.—A. Elizabeth Goldberg, Aged 13, in New York Herald.

An Optical Difficulty.

Simple and striking is this optical illusion which has been evolved by an expert who has devoted much study to the subject. It shows after all how easily we are deceived in measuring distances with the eye.

You would think that the distance between the points B and C was much greater than that between A and B. As a matter of fact, the distance in each case is precisely alike.

A QUESTION OF DISTANCES.

You may easily test this with a piece of paper. Mark on the edge the precise points A and B. Then move the paper between B and C and you will realize that the distance in each case is the same. Of course, as a little study will show you, it is the direction and length of the arrowlike wings that lead your eyes astray.

The Awakening of the Boy.

There was always something very brave and beautiful to me in the sight of a boy when he first "wakes up" and, seeing the worth of life, takes it up with a stout heart and resolves to carry it nobly to the end through all disappointments and seeming defeats. I was born with a boy's nature and always had more sympathy for and interest in them than in girls and have fought my fight for nearly 15 years with a boy's spirit under my "bib and tucker" and a boy's wrath when I got "floored," so I'm not preaching like a prim spinster, but freeing my mind like one of "our fellows," and as such I wish you all success, a cheerful heart, an honest tongue and a patient temper to help you through the world, for it's rough going and up hill work much of the way.—"Miss Allcott's Letters to Her 'Laurie,'" in Ladies' Home Journal.

Knock 'Em Down.

A similar game to Aunt Sally, but a simpler one, is made by scooping a hole in the ground and placing in it an upright stick. On the top of it is placed a stone or similar substance. The player then retires to a distance and flings at the stone with cudgels or balls, the latter being preferable. If the stone falls into the hole, the player only counts one toward game, but if he can strike it so as to make it fall outside the hole he counts two. This is a capital game for the seaside and can be played upon the sands.

Boston Dialect.

Teacher of English—Michael, when I have finished, you may repeat what I have read in your own words: "See the cow. Isn't she a pretty cow? Can the cow run? Yes, the cow can run. Can she run as fast as the horse? No, she cannot run as fast as the horse.

Future Mayor of Boston—Git on to de cow. Ain't she a beaut? Kin de cow git a gait on her? Sure. Kin de cow hump it wid de horse? Nit; de cow ain't in it wid de horse.—Golden Days.

Wanted a Divorce.

Clarence, aged 5, had been severely punished by his parents for disobedience, and the next day, without saying a word to any one, he called at the office of the family legal adviser, who happened to be a particular friend of the little fellow.

"Well, Clarence," said the man of the law after shaking hands, "what can I do for you?"

"Please, Mr. Brown," said Clarence, "I want to get a divorce from our family."

He Has Lots to Do.

Maybe I ain't "some punkins," But I have lots to do. For I feed the little chickens And the big chickens too.

My pa's so awful busy I just wish I knew how To feed and milk old bossy And drive the team and plow.

I'd like to do the reaping And help pa plant the corn;

Guess we could do the sweeping And blow the dinner horn.

So while at noon he's resting And sits there on the fence Some one must do the working, And so I'll just commence.

And though I ain't "much punkins" I'll do all I can do; I'll feed the little chickens And the big chickens too.—F. J. Newell.

LEXINGTON CHURCHES, SOCIETIES, ETC.

CHURCH OF OUR REDEEMER.

Episcopal.
Services—Sunday, preaching 11 a.m.; Sunday school, 9:45 a.m.; holy communion first and third Sundays of each month.
FIRST PARISH UNITARIAN CHURCH
Rev. Carleton A. Staples, pastor, residence, Hancock street, near Elm avenue. Services—Sunday, preaching 10:30 a.m.; Sunday school 12 m. Sewing circle every other Thursday. Young People's guild every Sunday evening in the vestry at 7 p.m.

FOLLEN UNITARIAN CHURCH.

Massachusetts Avenue, near Pleasant, west, E. L.
Rev. Lorenzo B. Cochran, residence, Locust avenue, East Lexington. Services—Sunday, 10:45 a.m.; 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12:00 m. Follen Alliance, fortnightly. Thursdays, at 2 p.m. Follen guild meets 6:30 p.m., Sunday. Lend-a-Hand club and Little Helpers.

HANCOCK CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Massachusetts Avenue, opposite the Common.
Rev. Charles F. Carter, pastor, residence, Hancock street. Services—Sunday, 10:30 a.m.; 7 p.m.; Sunday school 12 m. Week days, Y. P. S. C. E., Monday evening, prayer, Thursday, 7:45 p.m.

LEXINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

Massachusetts Ave., near Wallis Place.
Rev. J. H. Cox, pastor, residence, Walworth. Services—Sunday, preaching, 10:30 a.m.; 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12 m.; Tuesday, 7:45 p.m.; Y. P. S. C. E.; Friday, 7:45 p.m., prayer meeting.
Branch, Emerson Hall, East Lexington. Services—Sunday, 3 p.m.; Sunday school, 4 p.m.; Thursday evening, 7:45, prayer meeting.

ST. BRIDGET'S ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Massachusetts Ave., near Elm Ave.
Rev. P. J. Kavanagh, pastor, residence, next to the church. Services—Alternate Sundays at 9 and 10:30 a.m.; vespers 4 p.m., every Sunday; Weekdays, mass at 8 a.m.

FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Simon Robinson Lodge.
Meets at Masonic hall, Town Hall building, second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m.

ANCIENT ORDER OF UNITED WORKMEN.

Meets in A. O. U. W. hall, Hancock street, corner Bedford street, second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month.

IMPROVED ORDER OF HEPTA-SOPHS.

Lexington Conclave.
Meets at A. O. U. W. hall, second and fourth Wednesday evenings.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

George G. Meade Post 119.
Meets in Grand Army hall third Thursday of each month.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Council No. 94.
Meets in Lexington hall, Hunt block, Massachusetts avenue, first and third Tuesdays of each month.

LEXINGTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Meets in Corey hall second Tuesday evenings of winter months.

THE LEND-A-HAND OF THE UNITARIAN CHURCH.

Meets second Tuesday in each month at 3 p.m., in the church vestry.

ART CLUB.

Meets held Monday afternoons at members' residences, from November 1st to May 1st.

EAST LEXINGTON FINANCE CLUB.

Meets first Monday each month at Stone building, East Lexington.

LEXINGTON MONDAY CLUB.

Meets in winter every week at homes of members. Membership limited to 16.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB.

Meetings held Monday evenings, at members' residences, from October 15 to May 15.

THE TOURIST CLUB.

Meetings held at members' houses, Monday, 2:30 p.m.

LEXINGTON FIRE ALARM.

LOCATION OF BOXES.
46 cor. Pleasant and Watertown streets.
47 cor. Waltham and Middle streets.
48 cor. Lincoln and School streets.
49 cor. Lincoln and School streets.
50 cor. Mass. avenue and Cedar street.
51 Bedford street—No. Lexington depot.
52 Bedford street—opp. J. M. Reed's.
53 cor. Hancock and Adams streets.
54 cor. Ash and Bedford streets.
55 cor. Woburn and Vine streets.
56 cor. Woburn and Lowell streets.
57 Lowell street near Arlington line.
58 Warren st. opp. Mrs. W. R. Monroe's.
59 cor. Grant and Sherman streets.
60 cor. Bloodfield and Justice streets.
61 Mass. avenue and Percy road.
62 Mass. avenue opp. Village hall.
63 Mass. avenue and Pleasant street.
64 Mass. avenue opp. E. Lexington depot.
65 Mass. avenue and Sylvia streets.
66 Bedford street near Elm street.
67 Centre Engine House.
68 cor. Grant and Sherman streets.
69 cor. Merriam and Oakland streets.
70 Hancock street near Hancock avenue.
71 cor. Mass. and Elm avenues.
72 Chandler street opp. J. P. Prince's.
73 Mass. avenue near town hall.

PRIVATE BOXES.

261 Morrill estate, Lowell street.
561 Carhouse, Bedford st., No. Lexington.

DEPARTMENT SIGNALS.

Second alarm, repetition of first; general alarm, eleven blows; all out, two blows; brush fire, three blows followed by box number.

SPECIAL SIGNALS.

Test signal, one blow at 12 m.; no school signal, three blows repeated three times; police call, five blows three times; special signal, 22 five times from electric light station.

LOCATION OF WHISTLES, ETC.

Whistle at electric light station, bell on Follen church, East Lexington, tapper at residence of chief engineer, tapper at residence of first assistant engineer, tapper at residence of second assistant engineer, tapper at pumping station, tapper at residence of Wm. B. Foster, police, tapper at residence of C. H. Franks, police, tapper at centre engine house, tapper at East Lexington engine house, tapper at residence of James E. Shelvey.

INSTRUCTIONS.

Before giving an alarm be sure a fire exists.
Give the alarm at the nearest box.
Pull the hook way down, only once, and let go.
Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.
Wait at the box, if possible, and direct the firemen to the fire.
Never give a second alarm for the same fire; all second alarms are given by the engineers or other persons in authority.
Never give an alarm for a brush fire unless buildings are in danger; but inform the engineers and they will take action to extinguish it.
Citizens are requested to inform themselves as to the location of keys. Signs over the boxes will give the necessary information.

CAUTION TO PERSONS HAVING KEYS.

Never open boxes except to give an alarm.
You cannot remove your key until an engineer releases it, and it will then be returned to you.
Never allow the key out of your possession except to some responsible party, for the purpose of giving an alarm, and then see that it is returned.
If you remove from your place of residence or business, return the key to the chief engineer.

LEXINGTON ADVERTISERS.

JOHN A. FRATUS,
Jeweler,
Watches, Clocks,
Jewelry, etc.

All Repairing Guaranteed.

Store At Post Office,
Lexington.

CAMELLIA PLACE
Conservatories
Off Hancock Avenue
and Bedford Street,
Lexington, Mass.

Call and see our choice collection of Flowers.

We have a large variety.

ALSO CHOICE PLANTS FOR

Decorations of Halls and Churches

Flowers for Funerals, Receptions, and other occasions furnished and arranged very promptly. Orders solicited.

JAMES COMLEY.

FACTS ABOUT CIGARS.

A 10c. cigar cannot be sold for 5c. because men are not in business for their health.

A good 5c. cigar can be and is often sold for 10c., because large sums are expended in advertising it which the smoker must pay for.

The "Blue Bird"

is such a 5c. cigar. It is worth 5c.

No manufacturer can give you better. Try one and be convinced.

Manufactured by

CHARLES G. KAUFFMANN,
East Lexington.

LEXINGTON ICE CO.

GEO. M. WILSON, Prop.

PURE RESERVOIR ICE.

Families Supplied all Seasons of the Year.

P. O. BOX 403.

Parker Street, Lexington.

CHARLES T. WEST,

General Fire Insurance,

Opp. P. O., Lexington.

Telephone Connection.
Your Patronage Is Solicited.

R. W. BRITTON,

HAIR DRESSING ROOM

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID TO CHILDREN'S HAIR CUTTING. : : :
RAZORS HONED AND CONCEALED.

Massachusetts Ave., Opposite Post Office,
LEXINGTON, MASS.

J. H. FRIZELLE & SON,

EAST LEXINGTON,

Teaming, Jobbing

PERFECT EQUIPMENT.
CAREFUL DRIVERS.
Satisfaction Always Guaranteed.

H. MALCOLM TORREY,

BLACKSMITH

Practical Horse Shoeing and Jobbing.

Hand-made Shoes For Driving Horses
a Specialty.

Horses Called for and Returned.

Lock Box 8, East Lexington.

C. A. MANDELBOG,

GODDARD BUGGY, ROAD CART

And Three Express and Provision Wagons

FOR SALE.

Massachusetts Avenue, Near Post Office,
EAST LEXINGTON.

LUCIUS A. AUSTIN,

DEALER IN

Choice Groceries, Fancy Goods

Stationery, Daily Papers and Small Wares of all Kinds.

Laundry Agency, Tel. 14-3 Lexington.
East Lexington Post Office

W. L. BURRILL,

DEALER IN

Cigars, Tobacco,

Confectionery,

DAILY AND SUNDAY PAPERS,

ALSO GROCERIES.

POST OFFICE, NORTH LEXINGTON.

Public Telephone, 683 Lexington.

EDWARD HUNNEWELL,

Expressing, Jobbing &

Furniture Moving.

Baggage Delivered to and from All Trains.
Stand: Centre Depot. P. O. Box 506, LEXINGTON.

D. J. VAUGHAN,

Practical PLUMBER,

Repairing in all its branches.
Furnace Work and Hot Water Heating a Specialty.
Sherburne Row, Mass. Ave., Lexington.

THE HEART OF THE WOODS.

I hear it beat in morning still
When April skies have lost their gloom,
And through the woods there runs a thrill
That wakes arbutus into bloom.

I hear it throb in sprouting May,
A muffled murmur on the breeze,
Like mellow thunder leagues away,
A booming voice of distant sea.

In daisied June I catch its roll
Pulsing through the leafy shade,
And faint I am to reach its goal
And see the drummer unafraid.

Or when the autumn leaves are shed
And frosts attend the fading year,
Like secret mine sprung by my tread,
A covey bursts from hiding near.

I feel its pulse mid winter snows
And feel my own with added force
When red ruff drops his cautious pose
And forward takes his humming course.

The startled birches shake their curls;
A hidden leaf leaps in the breeze;
Some hidden mortar speaks and hurls
Its feathered missile through the trees.

Compact of life, of fervent wing,
A dynamo of feathered power,
Thy drum is music in the spring,
Thy flight is music every hour.

—John Burroughs in Atlantic.

A YUCATAN GIRL.

She Was Faithful and She Triumphed.

By ALICE D. DE PLONGEON.

Lolita was perched on a high chair playing a very lively waltz on a guitar several sizes too big for her small hands.

It was a warm day in Izamal (Yucatan), an old city that was famous for its temples and miraculous images long before the birth of Columbus. The guitarist was still delighting a group of admiring friends when the solemn tones of a church bell brought her suddenly to her feet. Thrusting the instrument into the first hand extended she exclaimed: "Come along. Let us all go to mass."

No sooner was the last mass over than every one—the upper classes in gay attire and the Indians in the immaculate white raiment always worn by them—thronged to the bull ring, a temporary structure occupying the central part of the great plaza. Many of the matrons who went thither were accompanied by several children and as many dark skinned, bare footed maids to take care of them. By midday every seat was filled and thousands of cigarettes were sending up their thin wreaths of smoke.

It was at this time that Pablo first caught sight of her pink dress, black hair and white feathers and decided without hesitation that she was the most adorable of her sex. Nor did he change his opinion

when she passed close to him on her way out, where he had carefully chosen his post of observation. But of course he did not see or know of him, and it happened that he lived in Merida, west of Izamal, while she resided at Valladolid, to the east. Then, too, Pablo learned upon inquiry that the girl he had admired was the daughter of a rich planter, while he himself was nothing but a poor mechanic, so with a sigh he endeavored to dismiss her image from his mind. That afternoon several guests were enjoying tropical fruits in the large parlor of their hospitable host when Lolita danced into the room, her hands extended to display some $16 goldpieces, glittering in her small palms.

"Just look," she exclaimed with childish delight, "papa has given these to me to play with."

"Do you gamble, senorita?" some one ventured to ask, having been assured that her father was an incorrigible gambler.

"Not I," she laughed. "I shall keep these, although he told me to try my luck.

as soon as the desks and school appurtenances are moved. As a number of

There will be another Miss Kendall at the family reunion at Nantasket, another summer. An eight-pound child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kendall, of Mill street, was born Tuesday.

Melville Morrison rode to Hollis, N. H., on his wheel last week and enjoyed a few days' ball riding. Tomorrow Mr. Morrison and Mr. H. B. Stearns go to North Falmouth on their bicycles for an outing.

Mr. O. W. Howland has been at Mrs. O. A. Maria's, Tapelo road, this week, but returned to his summer home at Cornish, Vt. yesterday.

The concert for next Thursday evening will be held at the bandstand, opposite Crocker's drug store. The following program will be presented by the Cambridge City band, C. N. Phelps, director:

March, "Dunlap Commandery" Hall.
Overture, "Cavaliers" Rollason.
Waltz, "Espanita" Rollason.
Two step, "Carolina Echoes" Miller.
Trombone solo Selected.
Mr. Charles L. Sands. Solo.
Medley of popular airs Selected.
Beyer.
Mr. F. W. Stevens. Solo.
Selections from the "Burgomaster".

American Fantasia Laurendeau.
Finale, "Malne Festival" Hall.

Rev. George P. Gilman, at the Congregational church, preached at the morning service on the "Power of the Gospel," and at the evening service on "Faith."

A. H. Steele, of Harrington street, Waverley park, lost a child last week, which was buried Sunday.

Mrs. J. West returned Monday from a two weeks' vacation at Providence, R. I.

Misses Edith and Augusta West have returned from a vacation at East Ware, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gest, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gest, of Hovey street.

A series of neighborhood prayer meetings commenced Tuesday evening the service that evening being held at the home of Rev. M. E. King, White street. The meetings have been held every Tuesday the past five years, and forty meetings have been held in that time.

A neat announcement board has been placed outside the door of the Unitarian

Carl, spent Sunday and Labor day at Hampton Beach, N. H., attending the Miss Blanche Minot is expected to return to Waverley today from her home in Maine, where she has been enjoying her vacation. Miss Minot will live with Mrs. F. O. Drayton this season, and teach at the new Waverley school.

her vacation at her home in New Hampshire. Miss Carrie Dean has returned from a vacation at her home in Taunton, Mass. They will occupy apartments at the home of Mrs. Tuttle and teach in the new Waverley school.

Mrs. Burbank and family returned this week from their summer home at Ashbury. Mr. and Mrs. Burbank and Miss Tuttle will teach at the new Waverley school, and Miss Mary Burbank at the Belmont high school.

Miss Hattie Sweetser is visiting friends in New York state.

G. B. Hubbard, formerly at the McLean hospital, is now employed on the cars of the Boston Elevated company.

G. M. "Poor-And-Ripley" of George's Mills, N. H., broke up Labor day. Messrs. F. E. Poor, Frank Andrews and Harry Ripley show the marked results of physical culture.

Mr. Bacon, stable keeper at the McLean hospital, returns next week from

J. S. Peabody and family are occupying part of Alexander Y. Cochrane's new house on Cambridge street.

part of Mr. A. Y. Cochrane's house on Cambridge street.

Dr. A. Hoch and wife and daughter Susie returned from a month's vacation at Cherry Hill, Scotland, Sunday. Dr. Hoch resumed his duties at the McLean hospital, Tuesday.

H. Percy Russell spent Sunday and Labor day in Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Brown, Jr., and wife spent a few days including Labor day at Brockton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Carpenter have been entertaining their sisters at their home on Trapelo road the past ten days.

The foundation is being laid for a large house to be built for Mr. F. C. Haskins on the estate adjoining that of his father, at the corner of Lexington and Belmont streets.

A number of the old trees, including willows, elms and balm of gileads which have stood at the corner of Lexington and Belmont streets, have been removed, and a sidewalk built.

Mr. Ludberry, of the McLean hospital, has returned from a vacation.

Mrs. Hawes, of White street, has been visiting at Sudbury, Mass.

LABOR DAY AT BEAVER BROOK RESERVATION.

Superintendent Robert Elder, of the Beaver Brook Reservation, was truly a busy man Labor day, and large crowds flocked to the popular picnic ground to enjoy its rustic beauty.

At noon the Swedish Presbyterian Sabbath school of about 200 members was present, in charge of Rev. Louis Price, pastor. A lunch was served at noon and about 100 from the Swedish Baptist church, of Cambridge, were in attendance. A basket lunch was served at nic party during the day. About 300 members of the Boston Armenian Young Men's club and ladies held an enjoyable picnic and field day. Games of ball were held in the morning. At noon a basket lunch was served. In the afternoon Armenian games were enjoyed, followed by a musical and concert. The proceeds will be used to alleviate the sufferings of orphans left in Armenia as a result of the terrible massacres which are going on there. About 35 members of the Everett Advent church held a picnic on the grounds.

About 35 workers of the Cambridge

In addition to these church and society gatherings there were many family groups scattered here and there about the enclosure, all of whom seemed to be enjoying a royal good time.

ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL.

The Arlington public schools reopen for the fall term Monday. Members of the high school will meet at the high school building at 8 o'clock, and the freshmen and juniors at 8 o'clock, sophomores at 9, graduates at 9:45 and the seniors at 10:30 Monday morning.

The interior of the school building has been freshly painted and has had appearance during the vacation season. In the basement the walls have been treated to coats of whitewash, the walls and ceilings of the school rooms as well as the hallways as usual and have a grained in very pretty colors. The tinting has had the effect of showing off the statuary and friezes to fine advantage. The desks have all been nicely varnished and place of Miss Anna J. Newton, who has been given a year's leave of absence, and Miss James H. Ross substituted for Miss

Baker N. J. Hardy has been entertaining his friends with a new Victor talking machine, for which he is agent, at his store in the center, the past week.